Scientists Are in Session To Study Vaccine Data

FIVE PERSONS WERE REPORTED INJURED in a two-car accident near the West O'Reilly street railroad bridge Sunday night. Officers Joseph Kivlan and Gilbert Gray reported at 7:20 p. m. that Thomas A. Rundle, 21, of 67 O'Neil street, was driving his car west on West O'Reilly street, and a car owned and operated by Fred Ahlers, of 78 O'Neil street, was headed east on the street. Injured in the Rundle car were the driver, who suffered a head laceration, Leo Wells, 23, of 89 Hone street, a head injury; Harold George Christiana, 23, no address given, cut on the head; and John Turck, 19, of 40 Hanratty street, bruised left shoulder. Mr. and Mrs. Ahlers suffered head injuries. All were treated at the Benedictine Hospital. The cars were towed from the scene. (Anner photo)

Small Boy Finds Skull in Hurley

A skull, thought to be that of a human, was brought to the sheriff's office Sunday afternoon by Philip Finch, of Hurley, who reported his son, John, 6, spotted it in an embankment along the Lomontville road near Hurley.

Finch said the skull apparently became visible after a part of the embankment broke away in a slide. Sheriff's men will take the skull to the Kingston City Laboratory for examination.

Tired Man Collides With Truck

Two Are Injured At Marlborough

The conditions of two occupants of an automobile that collided with a tractor-trailer on Route 9W near Marlborough at 11:20 p. m. Sunday were listed as "satisfactory" at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie this morning.

Troopers said the driver of the automobile, Lloyd Bunnell, 20, a soldier stationed at Gunison, Utah, received multiple lacerations of the face and both legs, and his passenger, Nuelda Will, 19, of Vassar Road, Poughkeepsie, received concussion, multiple lacerations of the face and both legs.

BUNNELL'S automobile, traveling north, swerved into the southbound lane when the driver "fell asleep," and collided with a southbound tractor trailer owned by Fair Play Trucking Company of Wappingers Falls, according to the state police report. The tractor trailer, driven by Pasquale Spezio, 44, of Conover street, Brooklyn, swerved to the right shoulder of the highway and after the contact crossed to the opposite side of the highway and ran into a field near the Tinian Tavern, troopers reported. There was no arrest.

WATER TANK SERVICE and the volunteer firemen's mutual aid system proved their value Sunday in checking a fire in the New Paltz area. Seven units of equipment from five companies answered calls and three volunteer firemen were hurt in fighting the blaze, Fire Chief Ernest Ahlberg of the New Paltz company said. The blaze, of undetermined origin, damaged the house of Albert Arras on the Libertyville road, a mile and a half west of New Paltz. The blaze had broken through the roof when firemen arrived, the chief said, and it damaged the attic and a side of the roof, but the rest of the house was saved. Mutual aid calls were placed through central station, Kingston, with a "tanker" from Clintondale and a pumper and tank truck from Tillson, responding to the first. Other tank trucks were dispatched later from Rifton and Binnewater. Fireman Charles Murkie suffered a back injury when he slipped in fighting the blaze, John Weaver suffered a stomach injury when he slid on the roof and Michael DeBenotto received a head injury when a section of roofing struck him. All were of the New Paltz company. Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to barns in the area. The call for the New Paltz company was at 2:15 p. m., and firemen were at the scene until about 4:45 p. m. (Anner photo).

Procedures In Plants Gone Over

Program Depends On Findings

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Polio vaccine experts opened a two-stage meeting today which may determine how soon the nation's polio inoculation program resumes and how far it will go this summer.

Scientists and consultants of the U. S. Public Health Service gathered this morning to study reports of plant inspections of five of the six vaccine manufacturers.

The same group was scheduled to meet in the afternoon with scientific representatives of all six producers.

A SPOKESMAN for the National Institutes of Health (NIH) said the government experts would then go back into session to wrestle with these questions:

"1. What if any changes need to be made in standards governing the manufacture and testing of the vaccine.

"2. What this means insofar as we can establish it in terms of supply for the rest of the summer."

When the answers will be announced was uncertain. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele has said the group's recommendations would be "advisory" and that he will make known his decisions "as soon as possible."

THE RESULT could mean early clearance of existing supplies or added time-consuming tests which might further delay release of vaccine.

The NIH spokesman said the morning meeting would concern reports of plant inspections at Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.; Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa., and Pitman-Moore Co., Indianapolis.

ALL CUTTER vaccine has been recalled since the appearance of polio among inoculated children slowed down the mass immunization program. Prior shipments of Parke, Davis and Lilly vaccine have been recleared in the last 10 days on the basis of the plant-by-plant doublecheck.

The spokesman said the conferees would first take up "specific data" on Wyeth and Pitman-Moore "to see if any action can be taken on their vaccine in the same way it was taken on Parke, Davis and Eli Lilly." He added the sixth firm, Sharpe & Dohme, Inc. of Philadelphia is manufacturing vaccine, but un-

Low Bidder Announced On Fencing

L. J. Thornton, Inc., of Lancaster, N. Y., on a bid of $282,162 was low bidder for the furnishing and erecting of "beam-type" guide railing along the New York State Thruway between Kingston and Suffern, and bids were received recently in Albany for similar fencing on the route in Greene, Albany and Schenectady counties.

The Kingston-Suffern project calls for installation of 122,050 lineal feet of railing. Low bid for installing 80,500 in the three counties north of here, was by Cable Guide Railing Construction Co., Inc., of Depew, which bid $182,550.

THE PROJECT in Ulster Orange and Rockland counties is slated for completion by Dec. 31, and the one upstate by Oct. 1. The one in this area will be supervised by J. S. Bixby, district engineer at Poughkeepsie,

Asks Settlement Of Defense Program

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D.-Tex.) called on Secretary of Defense Wilson today to "step in and stop the confusion" he said exists about the national defense program.

The Senate Democratic leader said Congressional committees are going to try to find out the "true story" of whether Russia is threatening to gain air superiority over the United States.

In the meantime, he said Wilson has the responsibility for seeing to it that "the generals and the secretaries get together so that the right hand knows what the left is doing."

"THE PEOPLE and Congress don't know who to pay attention to now," he said. "There has been a new rash of confusing statements and there should be clarification as to what is the true story."

The magazine Aviation Week said yesterday that Russian air developments have shocked "even the top level and the most knowledgeable military aviation leaders in the Pentagon."

It criticized what it said "appears to be a deliberate deception practiced against them (the American people) by some of the higest civilian officials in their government."

A BRIEF Pentagon report of Russian air developments 10 days ago led Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) to suggest Tuesday that Russia may have gained air superiority over the west. President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday such a statement "is just not true."

A prepared speech which Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power was to have delivered in Boston Friday said Russia now has the world's largest air force and "resources in manpower and material we could not possibly match."

AS POWER made the speech, however, he changed the text to say only that the Soviets have "a large air force" and "impressive resources in manpower and material," without saying whether this country could match them.

The change followed news reports of a speech by Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess in Detroit, quoting him that "the Russian Air Force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

Although Detroit newsmen said they would stick by the stories they wrote, Burgess told the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which Johnson is a member, that he was misquoted. Secretary of the Air Force Talbott backed this up, saying that statements about Russian air superiority were made " by people who just don't know."

BURGESS is chief of intelligence for the continental air command, and Power is commanding general of the air force research and development command.

"In view of the billions of dollars we are spending on defense, we have a right to have these people weigh their words," he said. "We have a right to know that when they speak the truth is being accurately stated."

Highland Man, 80 Fatally Injured In Train Accident

An 80-year-old Highland man died early Saturday night in Vassar Hospital of a fractured skull and internal injuries after he was struck by a speeding north-bound passenger train, according to state police.

The man was identified by Highland State Police as Ira Rivenburgh who had made his home with his son, Byron Rivenburgh, Oates street. The accident occurred about 3:30 p. m. when Rivenburgh was walking along the east side of the northbound tracks of the New York Central's West Shore railroad, approximately 300 yards south of the Mid-Hudson bridge in Highland.

TROOPERS SAID the passenger train was traveling north at 50 MPH when Rivenburgh was struck by the engine's guard rail. The engineer of the train was identified as A. A. Dobbs, West New York, N. J., the conductor as Frank Eickman, Hudson boulevard, North Bergen, N. J.

Dr. Anthony E. Biancardi gave first aid and Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle was at the scene. Sgt. Baker and Troopers Lisman and Bundschuh investigated.

Mayor Notified Parking Survey To Get Started

Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today he had received notice from the Automobile Club of New York to get started on the city's off-street parking survey, and that his office would act as a liaison agent "to get things rolling."

The club had proposed appointment of a local person or unit to cooperate in starting the survey, the mayor said, and he planned a prompt reply to suggest making all required arrangements through his own office.

Charles J. Murphy, head of the traffic engineering department of the automobile club, proposed the study for the city at the May 9 dinner of the Central Business Men's Association, and the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce recently urged prompt action to get the survey under way.

Not Ready Yet

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Two senators backing Adlai E. Stevenson as the Democratic presidential nominee said today he probably should make known his decision within several months.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill extending the life of the Hoover Commission on governmental reorganization by a month, until June 30.

Marine Fire Damage Set At $2,000

A shed, joiner shop, some lumber and other stored material were damaged in a fire of undetermined origin in the yard of the Reliance Marine Transportation & Construction Corp., 615 Abeel street, Saturday.

Bernard A. Feeney, general manager of the company, today estimated damage at "about $2,000."

SOMEONE passing in an automobile discovered the fire and called to him, Feeney said, and he called the fire department at 12:41 p. m. Men and equipment from Cornell and Central stations responded and later Deputy Fire Chief James M. Brett called for Wicks Engine Company and Rapid Hose.

A one-story frame oakum loft, and adjacent one-story joiner shop and a pile of new spruce lumber about 10 feet high were involved when firemen arrived, the deputy chief said.

THE LOFT and contents were reported "a total loss," and the roof of the shop was damaged. In the loft were oakum, rope and tackle, wooden dowels and cable.

Heat of the blaze was reported "intense." Feeney said it appeared to have started between the two buildings, and could possibly have started from a cigarette tossed in shavings or sawdust. Two hydrant streams were used.

TWO CALLS Saturday and one today were for grass fires. One at 3:35 p. m., Saturday was for a grass fire on Hasbrouck avenue near Mill street, and another at 5:50 p. m. was for one at Cornell Park. The one at 7:15 a. m., today was for burning grass at Flatbush avenue and Tammany street.

Another call Saturday at 3:42 p. m., was for an oil heater out of adjustment in a cellar at 95 Hone street, and one at 4:30 p. m., was for a fire in the car of Reefe Smith, of Mt. Tremper, at Albany aveune and Broadway. It was caused by a short circuit in wiring.

British Election Is Bomb Referendum

Gravesend, England, May 23 (AP)—In this corner of England near the mouth of the Thames Thursday's election will be, in effect, a referendum on the hydrogen bomb.

Election posters depict the mushroom clouds of atomic explosions. There are pictures of devastated Hiroshima, of piles of corpses.

There is no provision for a referendum on any subject in the election. But the vote will amount to that here because of the burning conviction of one candidate, Sir Richard Acland.

For 7½ years Acland represented this district as a Laborite in the House of Commons. His last majority was a healthy 6,000. Then his party approved manufacture of nuclear weapons.

HIS OPPOSITION was so violent he resigned from the party, resigned from parliament, and decided to fight as an independent for re-election. Independs usually have a rough time in British voting. But it could be different here because of Acland's wide acquaintance and his record as a vote-getter.

"It will be the first time, as far as I know, that common people will have a chance to pass judgment on this hideous weapon," Acland says. "Parliaments and military strategists have given us this thing, but now people will have a voice."

BOTH CONSERVATIVE and Labor parties entered candidates against Acland. With two men of labor background in the campaign, the Conservatives may take the district.

"But the bomb is more important than party politics," the 48-year-old baronet said, "and the people are on my side."

Sound trucks roll out of Gravesend to nearby villages. Motion pictures depict scenes of horrors wrought by atomic blasts. Acland exhibits graphic paintings by Japanes artists who saw what happened at Hiroshima. In the pubs men speculate on what a hydrogen bomb would do, and figure that it would knock down the White Cliffs of Dover.

ACLAND'S contention is that Britain does not need nuclear weapons, and that to have them is to invite annihilation.

"The United States and Russia threaten each other with complete extermination," he said in a speech. "The American Air

Two Persons Hurt Slightly in 2-Car Accident on Rt. 28

Two persons, one of them an 18-month-old baby, were slightly hurt in a two-car accident on Route 28 about two miles west of Kingston about 8:05 p. m. Sunday, according to sheriff's office and state police reports.

The reports—one filed by Trooper H. S. Rhodes and the other filed at the sheriff's office by one of the drivers—stated that automobiles driven by William Merecka, 23, of 43 Second avenue, and Earl O. Terwilliger, 47, of Ulster Park, were in collision as the latter was turning into a drive-in snack bar.

Rae Gadd, 19, of 430 Hasbrouck avenue, received a cut on her right knee and possible sprain of the right shoulder, the reports stated. She was listed as a passenger in the Merecka car. Martin Terwilliger, 18 months old, received a cut lip, according to the reports.

Jersey Postal Clerks Back Ike on Veto

East Orange, N. J., May 23 (AP)—The New Jersey Federation of Post Office Clerks is backing President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay raise bill because of a reclassification clause.

The clerks voted unanimous disapproval of the clause yesterday and announced they want the issues of pay boosts and reclassification to come before Congress on their respective merits rather than lumped together.

The reclassification clause, the clerks said, would split them into two classification levels instead of the present single-pay classification for all clerks.

Building Registration Deadline Is June 15

Superintendent of Buildings S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder today issued a reminder that owners of multiple dwellings are required by law to register with the local department of buildings before June 15.

Every owner of such buildings is asked to contact the building department office at 25 East O'Reilly street for registry blanks.

The department finds on checking, he said, that "there are a lot of multiple residences within the city limits whose owners, up to the present, have not registered, and I would respectfully ask that they take care of this matter by the date noted above."

Po'keepsie Catholics Plan Own High School

The Catholic community of the city of Poughkeepsie is interested in purchasing the present Poughkeepsie High School when it is "openly and officially offered for sale," it was announced yesterday by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie, and dean of the Catholic clergy in Dutchess and Putnam counties.

According to Msgr. O'Shea neither the New York archdiocese nor a local Catholic committee has made any overtures to the board of education which last week authorized an appraisal of the high school with a view of its sale for possible use by the city or county government or as a Catholic high school.

The board of education hopes to be able to vacate the present high school by late 1956 when the new facilities are ready for occupancy.

Msgr. O'Shea said general plans were outlined in May, 1953, for a $750,000 Catholic high school on grounds of the Marist Brothers Marion College, Poughkeepsie. In view of plans for the construction of a new public high school, however, the Catholic church decided to hold all its planning in abeyance until details were outlined for the disposal of the public high school.

In an off-hand opinion last Friday, Mrs. Harry Ethal, president of the board of education, said she thought the old high school should bring at least $200,000 or $250,000, according to reports.

Peekskill Has Bomb Incident

A tear gas bomb explosion in a Peekskill theatre Saturday night, the second in that theatre within the past month, has resulted in additional precautions by the Poughkeepsie Police Department to prevent a second explosion there.

Nine persons, including a police sergeant, two patrolmen and a detective were hospitalized and many others suffered from gas fumes in an explosion at the Bardavon Theatre, Poughkeepsie, Saturday night, May 14.

Apparently no persons were injured in the Peekskill explosion Saturday night, although approximately 1,000 persons were in the theatre at the time it went off shortly before 8 p. m. The bomb was reported to have been placed under a center rear seat of the Paramount Theatre.

Poughkeepsie detectives have been maintaining a continuous watch over Poughkeepsie theatres, it was reported.

Two Die in Fiery Crash, 13 Others Victims of Mishaps

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—A young man and woman died last night when an autmobile in which they were riding crashed through guard rails of a bridge approach, fell to a creek bed and caught fire. They were among 15 persons who died in weekend accidents in New York state.

Eleven met death in traffic mishaps between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

Bertram Koenig, 31, and Miss Nancy Evarts, 24, both of Troy, died in the fiery crash near Troy.

Their car was traveling on Route 2 as it approached the bridge over the Poestenkill Creek at Eagle Mills. Police said it crashed into a concrete abutment at the end of a sharp curve and tore through the guard rails.

It dropped about 20 feet to the creek edge, slid 50 feet along it and came to rest wheels up.

A man and a woman died of smoke poisoning in a Harlem rooming-house fire yesterday. Firemen rescued two women and a three-year-old child.

The dead were Charles Hammie, 66, and Mary 3. Layne, 54.

Other fatalities by community included:

Stang buys American Legion Poppy in his city hall office from little Bonnie Post and proclaims Thursday, Friday and Saturday as Poppy Days for American Legion Auxiliary of Kingston Post 150. Nation's Colleges and Universities Face Crisis from Growing Enrollment

New York, May 23 (AP)—The Carnegie Corp. says the nation's colleges and universities are facing a crisis stemming from a constantly growing enrollment.

John W. Gardner, President of the Educational Foundation, said in the annual report made public yesterday that presently nearly 30 per cent of each year's high school graduates enter college.

The near-doubling of college student enrollment expected in the 1960's will place "intolerable" burdens on American educational institutions, also creating new problems in financing higher education, Gardner said.

The American people, he said, should not "commit themselves to more higher education than they can maintain—and are willing to pay for—at a reasonable level of quality."

Gardner said the ever-increasing percentage of college candidates and the growing importance of technical and vocational training tend to create "mass production" in education.

Such a system, he said, will result in mediocrity of the caliber of graduates as the most gifted students will be neglected.

"Much more important than fixing the precise percentage that should go to college is to do a better job of selecting those who can profit most from college," Gardner declared.

"We send great numbers of our youth on to college each year without any clear notion as to what they will get out of it, but simply in pursuance of a vague notion that 'college is an opportunity that should not be denied them'. This makes no sense at all.

"Actually, college may be a highly valuable experience, a barren experience, or an injurious experience. The decision must be made in terms of the individual's capacities and motivations on one hand and the kind of education offered on the other," Gardner said.

The Carnegie Foundation was established by the late steel magnate Andrew Carnegie "for advancement and difussion of knowledge and understanding."

Peekskill Has Bomb Incident

A tear gas bomb explosion in a Peekskill theatre Saturday night, the second in that theatre within the past month, has resulted in additional precautions by the Poughkeepsie Police Department to prevent a second explosion there.

Nine persons, including a police sergeant, two patrolmen and a detective were hospitalized and many others suffered from gas fumes in an explosion at the Bardavon Theatre, Poughkeepsie, Saturday night, May 14.

Apparently no persons were injured in the Peekskill explosion Saturday night, although approximately 1,000 persons were in the theatre at the time it went off shortly before 8 p. m. The bomb was reported to have been placed under a center rear seat of the Paramount Theatre.

Poughkeepsie detectives have been maintaining a continuous watch over Poughkeepsie theatres, it was reported.

Mayor Notified Parking Survey To Get Started

Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today he had received notice from the Automobile Club of New York to get started on the city's off-street parking survey, and that his office would act as a liaison agent "to get things rolling."

The club had proposed appointment of a local person or unit to cooperate in starting the survey, the mayor said, and he planned a prompt reply to suggest making all required arrangements through his own office.

Charles J. Murphy, head of the traffic engineering department of the automobile club, proposed the study for the city at the May 9 dinner of the Central Business Men's Association, and the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce recently urged prompt action to get the survey under way.

Marine Fire Damage Set At $2,000

A shed, joiner shop, some lumber and other stored material were damaged in a fire of undetermined origin in the yard of the Reliance Marine Transportation & Construction Corp., 615 Abeel street, Saturday.

Bernard A. Feeney, general manager of the company, today estimated damage at "about $2,000."

SOMEONE passing in an automobile discovered the fire and called to him, Feeney said, and he called the fire department at 12:41 p. m. Men and equipment from Cornell and Central stations responded and later Deputy Fire Chief James M. Brett called for Wicks Engine Company and Rapid Hose.

A one-story frame oakum loft, and adjacent one-story joiner shop and a pile of new spruce lumber about 10 feet high were involved when firemen arrived, the deputy chief said.

THE LOFT and contents were reported "a total loss," and the roof of the shop was damaged. In the loft were oakum, rope and tackle, wooden dowels and cable.

Heat of the blaze was reported "intense." Feeney said it appeared to have started between the two buildings, and could possibly have started from a cigarette tossed in shavings or sawdust. Two hydrant streams were used.

TWO CALLS Saturday and one today were for grass fires. One at 3:35 p. m., Saturday was for a grass fire on Hasbrouck avenue near Mill street, and another at 5:50 p. m. was for one at Cornell Park. The one at 7:15 a. m., today was for burning grass at Flatbush avenue and Tammany street.

Another call Saturday at 3:42 p. m., was for an oil heater out of adjustment in a cellar at 95 Hene street, and one at 4:30 p. m., was for a fire in the car of Reefe Smith, of Mt. Tremper, at Albany aveune and Broadway. It was caused by a short circuit in wiring.

British Election Is Bomb Referendum

Gravesend, England, May 23 (AP)—In this corner of England near the mouth of the Thames Thursday's election will be, in effect, a referendum on the hydrogen bomb.

Election posters depict the mushroom clouds of atomic explosions. There are pictures of devastated Hiroshima, of piles of corpses.

There is no provision for a referendum on any subject in the election. But the vote will amount to that here because of the burning conviction of one candidate, Sir Richard Acland.

For 7½ years Acland represented this district as a Laborite in the House of Commons. His last majority was a healthy 6,000. Then his party approved manufacture of nuclear weapons.

HIS OPPOSITION was so violent he resigned from the party, resigned from parliament, and decided to fight as an independent for re-election. Independs usually have a rough time in British voting. But it could be different here because of Acland's wide acquaintance and his record as a vote-getter.

"It will be the first time, as far as I know, that common people will have a chance to pass judgment on this hideous weapon," Acland says. "Parliaments and military strategists have given us this thing, but now people will have a voice."

BOTH CONSERVATIVE and Labor parties entered candidates against Acland. With two men of labor background in the campaign, the Conservatives may take the district.

"But the bomb is more important than party politics," the 48-year-old baronet said, "and the people are on my side."

Sound trucks roll out of Gravesend to nearby villages. Motion pictures depict scenes of horrors wrought by atomic blasts. Acland exhibits graphic paintings by Japanes artists who saw what happened at Hiroshima. In the pubs men speculate on what a hydrogen bomb would do, and figure that it would knock down the White Cliffs of Dover.

ACLAND'S contention is that Britain does not need nuclear weapons, and that to have them is to invite annihilation.

"The United States and Russia threaten each other with complete extermination," he said in a speech. "The American Air

Two Persons Hurt Slightly in 2-Car Accident on Rt. 28

Two persons, one of them an 18-month-old baby, were slightly hurt in a two-car accident on Route 28 about two miles west of Kingston about 8:05 p. m. Sunday, according to sheriff's office and state police reports.

The reports—one filed by Trooper H. S. Rhodes and the other filed at the sheriff's office by one of the drivers—stated that automobiles driven by William Merecka, 23, of 43 Second avenue, and Earl O. Terwilliger, 47, of Ulster Park, were in collision as the latter was turning into a drive-in snack bar.

Rae Gadd, 19, of 430 Hasbrouck avenue, received a cut on her right knee and possible sprain of the right shoulder, the reports stated. She was listed as a passenger in the Merecka car. Martin Terwilliger, 18 months old, received a cut lip, according to the reports.

Jersey Postal Clerks Back Ike on Veto

East Orange, N. J., May 23 (AP)—The New Jersey Federation of Post Office Clerks is backing President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay raise bill because of a reclassification clause.

The clerks voted unanimous disapproval of the clause yesterday and announced they want the issues of pay boosts and reclassification to come before Congress on their respective merits rather than lumped together.

The reclassification clause, the clerks said, would split them into two classification levels instead of the present single-pay classification for all clerks.

Building Registration Deadline Is June 15

Superintendent of Buildings S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder today issued a reminder that owners of multiple dwellings are required by law to register with the local department of buildings before June 15.

Every owner of such buildings is asked to contact the building department office at 25 East O'Reilly street for registry blanks.

The department finds on checking, he said, that "there are a lot of multiple residences within the city limits whose owners, up to the present, have not registered, and I would respectfully ask that they take care of this matter by the date noted above."

Po'keepsie Catholics Plan Own High School

The Catholic community of the city of Poughkeepsie is interested in purchasing the present Poughkeepsie High School when it is "openly and officially offered for sale," it was announced yesterday by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie, and dean of the Catholic clergy in Dutchess and Putnam counties.

According to Msgr. O'Shea neither the New York archdiocese nor a local Catholic committee has made any overtures to the board of education which last week authorized an appraisal of the high school with a view of its sale for possible use by the city or county government or as a Catholic high school.

The board of education hopes to be able to vacate the present high school by late 1956 when the new facilities are ready for occupancy.

Msgr. O'Shea said general plans were outlined in May, 1953, for a $750,000 Catholic high school on grounds of the Marist Brothers Marion College, Poughkeepsie. In view of plans for the construction of a new public high school, however, the Catholic church decided to hold all its planning in abeyance until details were outlined for the disposal of the public high school.

In an off-hand opinion last Friday, Mrs. Harry Ethal, president of the board of education, said she thought the old high school should bring at least $200,000 or $250,000, according to reports.

Nation's Colleges and Universities Face Crisis from Growing Enrollment

New York, May 23 (AP)—The Carnegie Corp. says the nation's colleges and universities are facing a crisis stemming from a constantly growing enrollment.

John W. Gardner, President of the Educational Foundation, said in the annual report made public yesterday that presently nearly 30 per cent of each year's high school graduates enter college.

The near-doubling of college student enrollment expected in the 1960's will place "intolerable" burdens on American educational institutions, also creating new problems in financing higher education, Gardner said.

The American people, he said, should not "commit themselves to more higher education than they can maintain—and are willing to pay for—at a reasonable level of quality."

Gardner said the ever-increasing percentage of college candidates and the growing importance of technical and vocational training tend to create "mass production" in education.

Such a system, he said, will result in mediocrity of the caliber of graduates as the most gifted students will be neglected.

"Much more important than fixing the precise percentage that should go to college is to do a better job of selecting those who can profit most from college," Gardner declared.

"We send great numbers of our youth on to college each year without any clear notion as to what they will get out of it, but simply in pursuance of a vague notion that 'college is an opportunity that should not be denied them'. This makes no sense at all.

"Actually, college may be a highly valuable experience, a barren experience, or an injurious experience. The decision must be made in terms of the individual's capacities and motivations on one hand and the kind of education offered on the other," Gardner said.

The Carnegie Foundation was established by the late steel magnate Andrew Carnegie "for advancement and difussion of knowledge and understanding."

Four Po'keepsie Persons Hurt at Highland Circle

Four Poughkeepsie residents were taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital for treatment of injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on loose gravel and struck a culvert while negotiating the Highland traffic circle about 3:50 a. m. Sunday, state police reported.

Baker was released after treatment, and the others were admitted to the hospital, according to the report.

BOYS FROM CATHOLIC PARISHES in Kingston and Port Ewen were the guests of the Redemptorist Fathers at the seminary of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, Thursday, May 13, Ascension Day. Two busloads arrived in time for the ordination ceremony performed by His Excellency, Bishop James Griffiths, military delegate for the armed forces of the United States. Kneeling in the beautiful chapel, they watched as 20 seminarians received the minor orders of Exorcist and Acolyte, and 14 others received the major order of Deacon, the grade just below the priesthood.

During the remainder of the day, the boys got a good glimpse of a seminarian's daily life. The seminarians took them on a tour of the massive granite seminary, which overlooks the Hudson. The boys saw close up the vestments and sacred vessels, the library of fifty thousand volumes, and the seminarians' rooms. They shared the seminarians' recreation of softball, basketball, handball, and a rowing trip on the Hudson. When the boys left at 5 p. m. they had a much clearer knowledge of a seminarian's life and, perhaps, the hope that one day they might share it.

Plane Under Span And Bees Give Police Problems

A low-flying plane swooping under the Wilbur bridge and a swarm of bees near the Twaalfskill Golf Club gave local residents and police some concern over the week-end.

Police headquarters was notified at 4:42 p. m., that a member of the Kingston Powerboat Association and others had complained of a seaplane "flying under the Wilbur bridge." The call was relayed from the sheriff's office.

THE PLANE'S number was taken for later official note of the complaints, but as for immediate action, the departments had no jet planes on hand for pursuit. Officers Benjamin Osterhoudt and Michael Mazzuca were dispatched for a look, however.

The swarm of bees was reported near the entrance to the Twaalfskill golf course on West O'Reilly street early Saturday afternoon. No disposition of this problem was noted, but there were no subsequent reports of bees interfering with "birdies."

Memorial Service Is Held Sunday For Sea Heroes

The annual memorial service honoring the brave heroes of all wars who died at sea, was held Sunday afternoon on the dock overlooking the Rondout creek and was largely attended by residents to witness this, the first of the city's observance of Memorial Day.

The service was conducted by Auxiliary 53, of Tappen Camp No. 1, Sons of Union Veterans. Chairman for the service was James M. Krom, commander of Tappen Camp. This service has been held annually since 1914 and was first held from the Hudson River Day Line dock at Kingston Point but at the start of World War 2 it was transferred to the Rondout part of the city and has been held there since.

MUSIC WAS by the Salvation Army band with Captain Rosalie Davis and Vincent Sickles band leaders. Flowers were strewn on the water by the following organizations:

Auxiliary No. 53, Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America; Cub Pack 19, sponsored by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Colonial Camp 75, United Spanish War Veterans; Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Co. M Veterans Association; Kingston Post 150, American Legion; Civil Air Patrol, Kingston Squadron; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; American Legion Auxiliary and the Salvation Army. A wreath in memory of Pratt Post 127, GAR, was cast upon the waters by Ralph Keeler, quartermaster 1/c.

MAYOR Frederick H. Stang gave the opening address, thanking Auxiliary 53, for "keeping up this truly significant memorial service as a tribute to our soldiers and sailors who sacrificed their lives that we might enjoy the freedom we now have, and that these flowers and wreathes which were being cast upon the calm waters would be carried out to sea and eventually sink to rest upon the last resting place of our loved ones."

Attorney Louis DiDonna in his remarks referred to the offering the residents of Kingston and members of the organizations were making commemorating the war dead of the seas who did not die without a purpose and that we should not let them down but always keep their memory alive and not just decorate their graves or merely salute the colors in their behalf or foresake the cause for which they died.

PAST COUNTY Commander of the American Legion Clarance E. Brown remarked on the work being carried on by all organizations to perpetuate the memory of the honored dead. Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudis Achim quoted the 107th Psalm, "Those that go down to the sea in ships" who have given their lives that we can enjoy the benefits should always be remembered by our eternal vigilance, by deed, acts and thoughts.

The Salvation Army band accompanied the assemblage in singing "Nearer My God to Thee," the "National Anthem," and "America" and also rendered two selections, "Navy Hymn" and "Heavenly Love." Mrs. Charlotte Miller of the Salvation Army rendered two solos which were deeply appreciated by all, "Sweet Peace," and "God's Tomorrow." Paul Pavlidis of Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America, led the assemblage in the Pledge of Allegiance. Vincent Sickles of the Salvation Army sounded taps.

Force is quite sufficient to carry out the threat of complete extermination if need be. The Royal Air Force (armed with nuclear weapons) would make hardly a significant addition."

Acland added that "it is pretty clear that the American Strategic Bomber Force has already photographed every square mile of the Soviet Union by night, at over 50,000 feet with infra-red photography. They are, in fact, poised and ready."

Red Peace Petition Would Ban A-Warfare

United Nations, N. Y., May 23 (AP) — A Communist-style peace petition campaign will climax during the UN's 10th anniversary meeting in San Francisco June 20-26. The signature drive aims at a ban on atomic warfare.

Members of some UN delegations said today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might try to use the petitions as evidence of support for the repeated Russian demands for such a ban. Molotov announced Friday night that he would attend the San Francisco meeting.

The petitions were launched in the United States by the American Peace Crusade of New York City, which is on the U. S. attorney general's list of organizations he considers subversive.

The Communist-led World Peace Council meanwhile has postponed its world assembly in Helsinki, Finland, for a month, to June 22-29. UN sources noted the assembly thus would overlap the San Francisco ceremonies and could provide Molotov with echoes from the Finnish capital.

The peace council's governing bureau started the petition campaign with a communique Jan. 19 demanding "destruction of all stocks of atomic weapons wherever they may be, and the immediate stopping of their manufacture."

BOYS FROM CATHOLIC PARISHES in Kingston and Port Ewen were the guests of the Redemptorist Fathers at the seminary of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, Thursday, May 13, Ascension Day. Two busloads arrived in time for the ordination ceremony performed by His Excellency, Bishop James Griffiths, military delegate for the armed forces of the United States. Kneeling in the beautiful chapel, they watched as 20 seminarians received the minor orders of Exorcist and Acolyte, and 14 others received the major order of Deacon, the grade just below the priesthood.

During the remainder of the day, the boys got a good glimpse of a seminarian's daily life. The seminarians took them on a tour of the massive granite seminary, which overlooks the Hudson. The boys saw close up the vestments and sacred vessels, the library of fifty thousand volumes, and the seminarians' rooms. They shared the seminarians' recreation of softball, basketball, handball, and a rowing trip on the Hudson. When the boys left at 5 p. m. they had a much clearer knowledge of a seminarian's life and, perhaps, the hope that one day they might share it.

New Bedford, Mass., May 23 (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.), expected back in Washington today after several months convalescence, has written a history of the U. S. Senate while confined to bed.

The senator told the New Bedford Standard-Times in an interview at the Palm Springs, Fla., estate of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, that he has a contract with Harpers for the book. He said also that by pairing with other senators he has been recorded on 73 per cent of all legislation since March.

Plane Under Span And Bees Give Police Problems

A low-flying plane swooping under the Wilbur bridge and a swarm of bees near the Twaalfskill Golf Club gave local residents and police some concern over the week-end.

Police headquarters was notified at 4:42 p. m., that a member of the Kingston Powerboat Association and others had complained of a seaplane "flying under the Wilbur bridge." The call was relayed from the sheriff's office.

THE PLANE'S number was taken for later official note of the complaints, but as for immediate action, the departments had no jet planes on hand for pursuit. Officers Benjamin Osterhoudt and Michael Mazzuca were dispatched for a look, however.

The swarm of bees was reported near the entrance to the Twaalfskill golf course on West O'Reilly street early Saturday afternoon. No disposition of this problem was noted, but there were no subsequent reports of bees interfering with "birdies."

Memorial Service Is Held Sunday For Sea Heroes

The annual memorial service honoring the brave heroes of all wars who died at sea, was held Sunday afternoon on the dock overlooking the Rondout creek and was largely attended by residents to witness this, the first of the city's observance of Memorial Day.

The service was conducted by Auxiliary 53, of Tappen Camp No. 1, Sons of Union Veterans. Chairman for the service was James M. Krom, commander of Tappen Camp. This service has been held annually since 1914 and was first held from the Hudson River Day Line dock at Kingston Point but at the start of World War 2 it was transferred to the Rondout part of the city and has been held there since.

MUSIC WAS by the Salvation Army band with Captain Rosalie Davis and Vincent Sickles band leaders. Flowers were strewn on the water by the following organizations:

Auxiliary No. 53, Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America; Cub Pack 19, sponsored by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Colonial Camp 75, United Spanish War Veterans; Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Co. M Veterans Association; Kingston Post 150, American Legion; Civil Air Patrol, Kingston Squadron; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; American Legion Auxiliary and the Salvation Army. A wreath in memory of Pratt Post 127, GAR, was cast upon the waters by Ralph Keeler, quartermaster 1/c.

MAYOR Frederick H. Stang gave the opening address, thanking Auxiliary 53, for "keeping up this truly significant memorial service as a tribute to our soldiers and sailors who sacrificed their lives that we might enjoy the freedom we now have, and that these flowers and wreathes which were being cast upon the calm waters would be carried out to sea and eventually sink to rest upon the last resting place of our loved ones."

Attorney Louis DiDonna in his remarks referred to the offering the residents of Kingston and members of the organizations were making commemorating the war dead of the seas who did not die without a purpose and that we should not let them down but always keep their memory alive and not just decorate their graves or merely salute the colors in their behalf or foresake the cause for which they died.

PAST COUNTY Commander of the American Legion Clarance E. Brown remarked on the work being carried on by all organizations to perpetuate the memory of the honored dead. Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudis Achim quoted the 107th Psalm, "Those that go down to the sea in ships" who have given their lives that we can enjoy the benefits should always be remembered by our eternal vigilance, by deed, acts and thoughts.

The Salvation Army band accompanied the assemblage in singing "Nearer My God to Thee," the "National Anthem," and "America" and also rendered two selections, "Navy Hymn" and "Heavenly Love." Mrs. Charlotte Miller of the Salvation Army rendered two solos which were deeply appreciated by all, "Sweet Peace," and "God's Tomorrow." Paul Pavlidis of Troop 19, Boy Scouts of America, led the assemblage in the Pledge of Allegiance. Vincent Sickles of the Salvation Army sounded taps.

Force is quite sufficient to carry out the threat of complete extermination if need be. The Royal Air Force (armed with nuclear weapons) would make hardly a significant addition."

Acland added that "it is pretty clear that the American Strategic Bomber Force has already photographed every square mile of the Soviet Union by night, at over 50,000 feet with infra-red photography. They are, in fact, poised and ready."

Red Peace Petition Would Ban A-Warfare

United Nations, N. Y., May 23 (AP) — A Communist-style peace petition campaign will climax during the UN's 10th anniversary meeting in San Francisco June 20-26. The signature drive aims at a ban on atomic warfare.

Members of some UN delegations said today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might try to use the petitions as evidence of support for the repeated Russian demands for such a ban. Molotov announced Friday night that he would attend the San Francisco meeting.

The petitions were launched in the United States by the American Peace Crusade of New York City, which is on the U. S. attorney general's list of organizations he considers subversive.

The Communist-led World Peace Council meanwhile has postponed its world assembly in Helsinki, Finland, for a month, to June 22-29. UN sources noted the assembly thus would overlap the San Francisco ceremonies and could provide Molotov with echoes from the Finnish capital.

The peace council's governing bureau started the petition campaign with a communique Jan. 19 demanding "destruction of all stocks of atomic weapons wherever they may be, and the immediate stopping of their manufacture."

Catholic Veterans Would Have Daily Flag Salute

Lake Placid, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—The New York State Department of Catholic War Veterans has voiced disapproval of Gov. Harriman's veto of a bill that would have required school children to pledge allegiance to the flag daily.

In a resolution Saturday at the conclusion of a three-day conference, the group declared: "Daily recitation of one's morning and evening prayers do not cause them to become banal, nor would the recitation of the pledge of allegiance."

Balch Criticizes President Eisenhower

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—The state Democratic chairman says the Republicans will soon learn that even with a "popular leader" they can't carry on "unpopular policies."

Richard H. Balch told a Niagara county Democratic dinner last night that President Eisenhower had "failed the people and the people know it."

"The Republicans thought they could carry on unpopular policies so long as they had a popular leader," Balch declared. "They were wrong on both counts. They will find out once and for all in 1956."

Balch told his audience:

"These critical times demand solid accomplishment and wise leadership—not the Republican tradition of failure — swept under the White House carpet by a feather-duster figurehead."

In a brief address, Desapio declared that New York is one political and economic unit despite what he called Republican efforts to divide upstate from New York city.

New York city and the upstate counties have a common interest, Desapio said.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 23 (AP) — The state Democratic chairman says the Republicans will soon learn that even with a "popular leader" they can't carry on "unpopular policies."

Richard H. Balch told a Niagara county Democratic dinner last night that President Eisenhower had "failed the people and the people know it."

"The Republicans thought they could carry on unpopular policies so long as they had a popular leader," Balch declared. "They were wrong on both counts. They will find out once and for all in 1956."

Balch told his audience:

"These critical times demand solid accomplishment and wise leadership—not the Republican tradition of failure — swept under the White House carpet by a feather-duster figurehead."

In a brief address, Desapio declared that New York is one political and economic unit despite what he called Republican efforts to divide upstate from New York city.

New York city and the upstate counties have a common interest, Desapio said.

Oratorical Winners

Utica, May 23 (AP)—Bart Gabriele of Corona and Anthony Viola of the Bronx are the winners of the Columbian Squire oratorical contest sponsored by the New York State Council, Knights of Columbus. Each was awarded a $50 bond after the state final in which 15 regional finalists competed Saturday night. Gabriele won in the senior division for ages 16 and 17 and Viola took the junior title.

Less Time Lost

New York, May 23 (AP)—The amount of working time lost through strikes in New York state dropped from 3,070,000 man-days in 1953 to 2,010,000 in 1954, State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin reported today.

The American Legion was organized at Paris, France, in 1919. It was incorporated by an act of Congress on Sept. 16, 1919.

A LOAF OF BREAD

There in the gutter in front of the supermarket is a loaf of bread, its wrapper intact. You stand around and watch the people pass. No one stops to pick it up. A small boy examines it with his toe, a pretty girl sees and steps over it, a fat man almost steps on it and a minute or two later a fat woman cruses it, gives it an angry look and goes her way.

You remember other people and another time and another place. You remember the way they hovered around the back of the big tent where the soldiers ate and how they rummaged through the cans where the garbage was dumped. You recall the face of the toothless old hag with skin like a wrinkled paper bag, and the man with fear in his face and the thirteen or fourteen year old kid with skinny legs and hunger in her eyes.

You remember how they crowded around when the soldiers shared their food with them and how they clawed and pushed their way to the front, if they were strong enough, and the reverence with which they carried away a slice of bread.

You walk away and you try to shake it all off, but you cannot. The loaf of bread and the people who passed by, and the hungry people, what does it mean? You sense that maybe there is an editorial or a sermon or a novel in it.

Yet how do you write it? What do you say? Who would understand what you were talking about if you said that maybe what was the matter with the world was that there was a loaf of bread in the gutter in front of a supermarket in an American town?

And those kids—clawing—

TOO MUCH AUTOMATION?

Two items in the news, one datelined London, the other Philadelphia, indicate that the age of automation is here already.

From England's capital comes news of a robot tractor that will roll or harrow by itself all night, stopping automatically if a certain amount of rain falls.

The Philadelphia story tells of a closed-circuit television channel that enables mothers to keep an eye on their children.

Put these two items together and you have the outlines of an era when everything from farming to baby-raising can be done by machine. Pleasing as the resulting image is, it contains some disturbing elements.

Automatic agriculture, in which the farmer sits back and does nothing but rake in the profits while all his chores are done by machine, may be advantageous. But automatic raising of children definitely is not. The result would be mechanical children, lacking in the humane qualities that only loving parental care can give.

Mechanical agriculture has its disadvantages. People might lose touch with the soil, lose sight of the natural cycle of birth, growth and death. This would be a genuine loss.

But automatic child-raising would be a horror. There's always need for lightening the work-load of mothers. This should be orientated, however, toward giving them more time for their children, not at removing them from their off-spring.

We'll take the robot tractor. But let's be a little wary about automation for raising children.

NONPOLITICAL

President Eisenhower was at some pains the other day to clear up the much labored matter of his wife Mamie's health. As he told it, the story is fairly simple. He says she's basically a healthy person, though a trifle frail. This spring she's been plagued by a stubborn virus infection, a respiratory affair. Recovery has been retarded by the fact she is allergic to some of the drugs normally used in such cases.

Unless the President's opponents want their own doctors to examine her, we trust this report closes the case and takes it out of politics—at least until the next wayward virus assails her.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE FACE OF A PEOPLE

London, May 23—Each country, in the historic process of molding a nation, develops a national personality that is as distinctive as that of each individual. No two are alike. We, in the United States, only too often think of the British and ourselves as the same kind of people, perhaps because we speak the same language and stem intellectually from an identical historic origin, but one need not be here more than an hour, watching one of the most important elections in British history, to discover vast differences in character. This election is only a week away, but it has not "hotted up" yet.

It is obviously not an exciting election. The fact is that the voters do not understand why an election is held at this time at all. The Conservatives still had 18 months to continue in office. There are many explantions, the favorite being that Sir Anthony Eden did not want to finish Sir Winston Churchill's term. He wanted the confidence of the people all on his own. Then he could continue for five years if he gets a working majority in the House of Commons and holds that majority. Others suggest that there must be some great events in the world about which the people know nothing, and that if Sir Anthony Eden is to devote himself to negotiations on major problems, he must show that he is not merely a successor to Churchill but that he was directly chosen by the people. In a word, as the people wonder why there is an election, they speculate what Eden knows that they do not know.

The people here in England want peace. It is possible to say that if there is any issue in this campaign at all, it is peace. England is prosperous and knows full employment after an era of bitter austerity. This people remembers the war—not only World War 2 but World War 1. They remember the pits in London made by Nazi block-busters. They remember the period in the war when they were practically a beseiged island and the people lived on hunger rations. Now that they have a prosperity beyond their imaginations in those horrible days, they want peace.

The Conservatives have the advantage in the argument that it was Churchill who saw them through a war that might have been a conquest and that Eden has labored for peace. The Austrian Treaty and the agreement for the Big Four to meet "at the summit" are undoubtedly helping the Conservatives. At any rate, it has robbed the Socialists of the principal issue. It has, in fact, left them without an issue.

There is no argument against prosperity and full employment. Socialism can create an anger against possessions and the possessors when times are bad, when groceries are costly and the future is dim. But what is to be said against prosperity except that it is too good to be true?

The result is a campaign without issues, a campaign which brings out small audiences to meetings. Only Winston Churchill and Aneurin Bevan excite interest and attention and both are curiosities rather than political candidates. Churchill has become a living monument, a person above all parties and issues, one whom men and women want to see and hear.

Bevan is believed to be a man with a future, the most dangerous man in Great Britain today.

It is generally held that he will lead his country some day to extreme Socialism if he has the chance. At him, people look and they listen. But it is not believed that he will carry the Socialists, that is, the Labour Party, forward in this election.

The fear is that the defeat of the Socialists in this election will lead to the end of Clement Attlee's leadership and that the Labour Party will be taken over by Aneurin Bevan. On the other hand, some say that the Labour Party is so split that its defeat in this election will result in a realignment by which those who are Liberal Socialists will break with the Labourites who are Communists, pro-Communists and fellow-travellers (here they are called crypto-Communists). Such a division would produce a new party. The Liberals, who have been reduced to what might be called a splinter party, hope that it might lead to a revival of their party of the middle-of-the-road.

That Body of Yours

MORE THOUGHTS ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS

Recently we mentioned the encouraging fact that so many sanatoria for tuberculosis were closing because of lack of patients believed due to the effective new drugs available, such as Izoniazid, Streptomycin, PAS (para-amino-salicylic acid), and surgical techniques. However, I have just read an editorial in the Canadian Medical Association Journal entitled "Home Treatment of Tuberculosis" which I feel should be passed on to my readers.

"With the discovery of various antibiotic and chemotherapeutic agents in the past few years (chemotherapy is the prevention or treatment of infective diseases by chemicals which act as antiseptics within the body), many changes have taken place in the treatment of tuberculosis. One of the most important changes is the early ambulation (allowed up and about) of patinets and, in some instances, their early discharge from sanatorium."

"Recently many articles have appeared in the press concerning the closing of sanatoria due to lack of patients. This has given rise to some false impressions, the main one being that tuberculosis is on the decline and is a disease that can be treated easily at home. While the death rate has been reduced markedly, the morbidity rate (number of cases appearing) has not declined correspondingly; over the past few years the decline has been relatively small. Indeed, some authorities question whether there has been any decrease at all in the number of new cases appearing but the general opinion is that it has been slow but steady."

One of the main reasons for a change in the management of tuberculosis was the lack of sanatoria beds. With the discovery of the newer methods of treatment, some centers started using drugs on their patients while waiting for admission to an available bed. However, it was soon found that this was not a sound method of approach and the policy of getting the patient into sanatorium as soon as possible was adopted teaching him how to live with his tuberculosis, getting him well started on a course of drug treatment, and discharging him to his home to carry on this treatment. This meant a drastic reduction in the number of months spent in sanatorium with the result that the waiting lists soon disappeared and all patients could be admitted to sanatorium shortly after tuberculosis was first discovered in them.

There have been many criticisms of this form of treatment and many authorities question the long-term result. It is recognized that it is much better to treat a patient at home after a relatively short period in sanatorium than not to treat him at all and thus the treatment is justified. The long-term effect has not been evaluated as yet and it will take some years before this can be done.

Treatment carried on at home involves very careful periodic examination of the patient which is made more difficult by the false sense of security a patient has. No one questions the value of sanatorium treatment and it is safe to say that no one would recommend full treatment on drugs at home. It is accepted everywhere that the acute case of pulmonary tuberculosis should be treated in bed in a sanatorium on adequate drugs; when the acute phase passes, the treatment should be kept up in protected surroundings, preferably with the patient allowed out of bed a good deal of the time.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Eighty per cent of the American people want the United States to stay in the United Nations. Only 5 per cent think the U. S. should pull out. The other 15 per cent haven't made up their minds.

Only 7 per cent of the American people have never heard of the United Nations. Of the other 93 per cent 80 per cent can name one or more of its purposes.

The major image of the United Nations in the minds of the American people is that it is an organization intended to keep the peace.

In the way of improving the UN, 85 per cent of the American people think the veto should not be used to keep nonmember countries from joining, 54 per cent think the U. S. should be given control over atomic energy, 49 per cent think the UN should be given more power to control the armed forces of all nations, only 17 per cent favor the admission of Communist China.

THESE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS of a new compilation of over 100 polls that have been taken on UN issues during the last 18 years by seven public opinion research organizations.

The studies were made by Stephen B. Withey and William A. Scott of the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

As a result of those studies, it is possible to make a fever chart on how American approval and disapproval of the UN have fluctuated since its creation in 1945. Whether the curve went up or down has depended a great deal on world events.

The UN started off in 1946 with about 40 per cent of the American people supporting it. This dropped to 25 per cent by the end of the year when Soviet Russia began to throw its vetoes around and it looked as if the UN would be a big flop.

AMERICAN APPROVAL rose gradually to 50 per cent by 1949. Right after war broke out in Korea in mid-1950 and the UN stepped into the picture to check Communist aggression, support rose to 65 per cent.

UN support dropped to 30 per cent when Communist China came into the war and it became a stalemate.

Since the signing of the Korean cease-fire agreement, American support for the UN has risen back up to the 60 per cent level. It has fluctuated a few points above and below that figure over the past year.

Over this same ten-year period, disapproval of the UN as expressed in American public opinion polls has declined from its highs of 55 per cent after the Berlin blockade by Russia and after Red China entered the Korean war, to 20 per cent today.

In general, Professors Withey, Scott and their associates conclude from their poll of polls that with minor changes, the number of Americans who have favored getting out of the UN and the number who favor staying in have remained about the same over the ten-year period.

COLLEGE GRADUATES and people of high income are found to be more dissatisfied with UN performance. These are the people who know more about world affairs, think about them more and have higher ideals on what UN should be.

Americans who are dissatisfied with the UN record to date are reported as two-thirds in favor of strengthening the UN to one-third in favor of U. S. withdrawal.

The long-term growth of American opinion in favor of some form of world organization is noted. In 1937, some 23 per cent of the people thought the U. S. should join the League of Nations. During World War 2 70 per cent thought there should be some form of world organization.

During the San Francisco UN charter conference it was 80 per cent.

In the past year, polls have indicated that 70 per cent of the American people think the U. S. should stay in the UN even if Red China is admitted to membership by majority vote. Sixty per cent favor staying in even if Russia continues her obstructiveness. Forty-seven per cent favor staying in even if the UN is a failure.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

London, May 22—Except for the British accent and the different names of the candidates and the parties, this might well be a presidential election campaign in the United States. For they have everything here including the photogenic Anthony Eden sitting like Eisenhower with arms folded before the television camera as he delivers in the best Stevenson manner an impromptu address telling how his heart beats for the people.

They even have a rhubarb going on in the press here about the accuracy or inaccuracy of Gallup polls. The Socialist Laborites, being the side that is expected to lose the election according to the public opinion polls, don't, of course, think much of the technique, while the Conservative party leaders all think it must be accurate and are warning their supporters not to become victims of so much over-confidence as to forget to vote.

"An election isn't a game," warns Herbert Morrison, who was Foreign Secretary in the Attlee Cabinet when the Socialist Labor party was last in power. "It isn't a kind of a gigantic football match. It is a very serious thing . . . It would be a pity if what is meant to be a grave constitutional duty and function should be reduced in the minds of the people to a kind of exercise in speculation."

Mr. Morrison said he had nothing, to be sure, against polls or pollsters as such, for he added that "after all, everybody is a bit of a pollster." But he objected to the use to which polls were put and the way they were presented to the public. He deplored the display "across several columns" in the newspapers of what he felt were avowedly estimates based on a "limited range of samples." Then he reminded his audience about the 1948 election in the United States when Mr. Truman was elected despite polls that indicated he would be defeated.

All this has a familiar ring. So also have the main arguments in the speeches. The big issues, to be sure, are "peace and prosperity," as we know them in America, but over here they don't rely so much on slogans. They hammer home their points in considerable detail.

Sir Anthony Eden, whose continuance as Prime Minister depends on the outcome of the election next Thursday, told a nation-wide audience on television over the week end that all the issues that he had explained in his speech, important as they were in different spheres, were dominated by one which was the greatest of them all: "Can we maintain peace?" He then repeated with emphasis the word "peace." As he moved along easily and informally in his talk, he said:

"I know there are some people who are saying this is a dull election. I have not found it dull. Anyway, I don't think slanging matches help us very much. I think there is perhaps another explanation which I found rather well expressed in the Socialist weekly yesterday, which read, 'Labor votes are not easily aroused when the country, generally speaking, is prosperous. Well, of course that is true, the country is prosperous and we all know it and rejoice at it."

Nor is this campaign devoid of the same class prejudices which stump speakers use in the United States. Eden hit back at that sort of thing when he said:

"We must make up our minds that our object is to create new wealth and share out that new wealth as widely as we can among the people, instead of squabbling about what remains of the old wealth."

Another speech reminiscent of American campaigning was delivered over the weekend by R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose leadership on the economic side has enabled the Conservatives to point with pride to the good times the British people have enjoyed as compared with the days when the Socialist Labor Party prolonged rationing of food far beyond the period of controls in the United States. Mr. Butler pledged that "monopolies" would not be tolerated, nor would "price-rigging," which is the British translation of "price-fixing" as used in the anti-trust vocabulary at Washington. But the man who runs the British Treasury said frankly that his party would not hesitate to "reward success and cut loose cramping restrictions on human endeavors."

Mr. Butler claimed that his party has "restored national solvency" as well as "personal initiative and opportunity." Both he and his associates keep reminding the electorate about the Socialist Labor program for state ownership of industries which is called "nationalization" over here — something which doesn't seem to be as popular even with the Socialist Labor party as it was just a few years ago.

The Socialist Labor party speakers concede that times are better but, like the Democrats in the United States, they gloomily see disaster ahead. As for progress on the peace front the Socialist Labor party spokesmen claim that, if anything has been accomplished, it is due to the prodding by the Labor party in Parliament.

All in all, it feels here like an American political campaign with the same issues that may be acclaimed by the Republicans in 1956 if our nation is still at peace and still enjoys prosperity.

Double Concrete System Of Roads Covers Nation

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — If you're about to drive to some place you haven't visited for a couple of years, chances are you'll ride long stretches of it on new divided freeways or new toll roads.

Despite the fact that traffic is still increasing faster than road construction, a double concrete web of deluxe highways has been spreading rapidly over the U. S. countryside and through the large cities in recent years.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads reveals that the country has 7,700 miles of divided state highways. This includes 1,500 miles of toll roads. It does not include hundreds of miles of new expressways in cities all over the U. S.

Between 600 to 700 miles per year are being added to the national highway network and 300 million dollars worth of expressways a year are being built in the cities.

HERE ARE SOME of the dramatic new toll road advances:

By November, 1956, you will be able to drive from Chicago to New York on toll roads through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The cross-state road in Ohio will be open all the way by October, 1955, and the Indiana section completed by November, 1956, according to plans.

Best estimate is that between 1960 and 1965 you will be able to drive on toll highways most of the way from Chicago to Miami, about 1,500 miles. Toll roads are "authorized" from Hammond, Ind., just outside of Chicago, to Indianapolis, across Georgia and from Ft. Pierce to Miami in Florida.

To fill in most of the gaps left by the "authorized" roads are sections "proposed" across the rest of Indiana north-south, across Kentucky, and from Jacksonville to Ft. Pierce in Florida.

When the authorized and proposed sections are complete there will be only a few gaps in Kentucky and between Georgia and Florida for the Chicago-Miami toll road drive.

ALSO BY THE EARLY 1960's it is possible that you will be able to drive from New York as far west as the Colorado-Nebraska state line on the toll roads mentioned plus those now "authorized" across Illinois and "proposed" across Iowa and Nebraska.

The longest north-south trip on toll roads and divided freeways, expected to be in use before 1960, will be from Fort Kent on the Maine-New Brunswick border, to Washington, D. C., about 750 miles. A 290-mile stretch from Fort Kent to Augusta, Me., has been authorized. The rest of the way through New England can be traversed on roads either under construction or recently completed, down through New Jersey to the Delaware River Bridge, and south on a divided freeway through Baltimore into Washington.

Early in 1956, when the New Jersey Turnpike is connected with the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a motorist can drive on toll roads from Fort Kent to Chicago, about 1,360 miles and some years later on the proposed roads to the Colorado-Nebraska line, about 2,160 miles.

Some time in November, 1956, you will be able to drive from Boston to Buffalo, about 500 miles, when the New York Thruway is connected with a road under construction east-west across Massachusetts.

MOST OF THE TOLL ROAD construction has been concentrated in the northeastern quarter of the U. S., because that is where traffic is heaviest. Average cost for passenger cars is about 1:5 cents per mile.

Today, 1,397 miles of toll roads are under construction, 2,991 miles authorized and 2,381 miles proposed.

Construction of deluxe, divided freeways is also going on in practically all of the states. California leads in the category with 1,070 miles of them in use and more under construction. Its prize is U. S. 99, the longest divided freeway in the country, stretching from Los Angeles to Sacramento.

In Michigan the new Willow Run Expressway connects Detroit to Ypsilanti.

Missouri is modernizing Route 66, a main route from Chicago to the Southwest. Most of it from St. Louis to Rolla is four lanes. Also modernized is U. S. 40, the main artery between Kansas City and St. Louis.

LOUISIANA PLANS TO BUILD a four-lane freeway from Krotz, east of Opelousas, to Covington.

The State of Washington has a new four-lane Route 99 from Olympia to Tacoma and Seattle. It is also planned to make Route 99 four lanes from Everett, north to the border.

Great progress is also being made on expressways moving traffic through and around cities and connecting big cities to nearby turnpikes. For instance, Maryland is planning to give Washington a better link with the Pennsylvania Turnpike. A four-lane freeway from Fred-

A LOAF OF BREAD

There in the gutter in front of the supermarket is a loaf of bread, its wrapper intact. You stand around and watch the people pass. No one stops to pick it up. A small boy examines it with his toe, a pretty girl sees and steps over it, a fat man almost steps on it and a minute or two later a fat woman cruses it, gives it an angry look and goes her way.

You remember other people and another time and another place. You remember the way they hovered around the back of the big tent where the soldiers ate and how they rummaged through the cans where the garbage was dumped. You recall the face of the toothless old hag with skin like a wrinkled paper bag, and the man with fear in his face and the thirteen or fourteen year old kid with skinny legs and hunger in her eyes.

You remember how they crowded around when the soldiers shared their food with them and how they clawed and pushed their way to the front, if they were strong enough, and the reverence with which they carried away a slice of bread.

You walk away and you try to shake it all off, but you cannot. The loaf of bread and the people who passed by, and the hungry people, what does it mean? You sense that maybe there is an editorial or a sermon or a novel in it.

Yet how do you write it? What do you say? Who would understand what you were talking about if you said that maybe what was the matter with the world was that there was a loaf of bread in the gutter in front of a supermarket in an American town?

And those kids—clawing—

TOO MUCH AUTOMATION?

Two items in the news, one datelined London, the other Philadelphia, indicate that the age of automation is here already.

From England's capital comes news of a robot tractor that will roll or harrow by itself all night, stopping automatically if a certain amount of rain falls.

Put these two items together and you have the outlines of an era when everything from farming to baby-raising can be done by machine. Pleasing as the resulting image is, it contains some disturbing elements.

Automatic agriculture, in which the farmer sits back and does nothing but rake in the profits while all his chores are done by machine, may be advantageous. But automatic raising of children definitely is not. The result would be mechanical children, lacking in the humane qualities that only loving parental care can give.

Mechanical agriculture has its disadvantages. People might lose touch with the soil, lose sight of the natural cycle of birth, growth and death. This would be a genuine loss.

But automatic child-raising would be a horror. There's always need for lightening the work-load of mothers. This should be orientated, however, toward giving them more time for their children, not at removing them from their off-spring.

We'll take the robot tractor. But let's be a little wary about automation for raising children.

NONPOLITICAL

President Eisenhower was at some pains the other day to clear up the much labored matter of his wife Mamie's health. As he told it, the story is fairly simple. He says she's basically a healthy person, though a trifle frail. This spring she's been plagued by a stubborn virus infection, a respiratory affair. Recovery has been retarded by the fact she is allergic to some of the drugs normally used in such cases.

Unless the President's opponents want their own doctors to examine her, we trust this report closes the case and takes it out of politics—at least until the next wayward virus assails her.

'These Days'

THE FACE OF A PEOPLE

London, May 23—Each country, in the historic process of molding a nation, develops a national personality that is as distinctive as that of each individual. No two are alike. We, in the United States, only too often think of the British and ourselves as the same kind of people, perhaps because we speak the same language and stem intellectually from an identical historic origin, but one need not be here more than an hour, watching one of the most important elections in British history, to discover vast differences in character. This election is only a week away, but it has not "hotted up" yet.

It is obviously not an exciting election. The fact is that the voters do not understand why an election is held at this time at all. The Conservatives still had 18 months to continue in office. There are many explantions, the favorite being that Sir Anthony Eden did not want to finish Sir Winston Churchill's term. He wanted the confidence of the people all on his own. Then he could continue for five years if he gets a working majority in the House of Commons and holds that majority. Others suggest that there must be some great events in the world about which the people know nothing, and that if Sir Anthony Eden is to devote himself to negotiations on major problems, he must show that he is not merely a successor to Churchill but that he was directly chosen by the people. In a word, as the people wonder why there is an election, they speculate what Eden knows that they do not know.

The people here in England want peace. It is possible to say that if there is any issue in this campaign at all, it is peace. England is prosperous and knows full employment after an era of bitter austerity. This people remembers the war—not only World War 2 but World War 1. They remember the pits in London made by Nazi block-busters. They remember the period in the war when they were practically a beseiged island and the people lived on hunger rations. Now that they have a prosperity beyond their imaginations in those horrible days, they want peace.

The Conservatives have the advantage in the argument that it was Churchill who saw them through a war that might have been a conquest and that Eden has labored for peace. The Austrian Treaty and the agreement for the Big Four to meet "at the summit" are undoubtedly helping the Conservatives. At any rate, it has robbed the Socialists of the principal issue. It has, in fact, left them without an issue.

There is no argument against prosperity and full employment. Socialism can create an anger against possessions and the possessors when times are bad, when groceries are costly and the future is dim. But what is to be said against prosperity except that it is too good to be true?

The result is a campaign without issues, a campaign which brings out small audiences to meetings. Only Winston Churchill and Aneurin Bevan excite interest and attention and both are curiosities rather than political candidates. Churchill has become a living monument, a person above all parties and issues, one whom men and women want to see and hear.

Bevan is believed to be a man with a future, the most dangerous man in Great Britain today.

It is generally held that he will lead his country some day to extreme Socialism if he has the chance. At him, people look and they listen. But it is not believed that he will carry the Socialists, that is, the Labour Party, forward in this election.

The fear is that the defeat of the Socialists in this election will lead to the end of Clement Attlee's leadership and that the Labour Party will be taken over by Aneurin Bevan. On the other hand, some say that the Labour Party is so split that its defeat in this election will result in a realignment by which those who are Liberal Socialists will break with the Labourites who are Communists, pro-Communists and fellow-travellers (here they are called crypto-Communists). Such a division would produce a new party. The Liberals, who have been reduced to what might be called a splinter party, hope that it might lead to a revival of their party of the middle-of-the-road.

That Body of Yours

MORE THOUGHTS ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS

Recently we mentioned the encouraging fact that so many sanatoria for tuberculosis were closing because of lack of patients believed due to the effective new drugs available, such as Izoniazid, Streptomycin, PAS (para-amino-salicylic acid), and surgical techniques. However, I have just read an editorial in the Canadian Medical Association Journal entitled "Home Treatment of Tuberculosis" which I feel should be passed on to my readers.

"With the discovery of various antibiotic and chemotherapeutic agents in the past few years (chemotherapy is the prevention or treatment of infective diseases by chemicals which act as antiseptics within the body), many changes have taken place in the treatment of tuberculosis. One of the most important changes is the early ambulation (allowed up and about) of patinets and, in some instances, their early discharge from sanatorium."

"Recently many articles have appeared in the press concerning the closing of sanatoria due to lack of patients. This has given rise to some false impressions, the main one being that tuberculosis is on the decline and is a disease that can be treated easily at home. While the death rate has been reduced markedly, the morbidity rate (number of cases appearing) has not declined correspondingly; over the past few years the decline has been relatively small. Indeed, some authorities question whether there has been any decrease at all in the number of new cases appearing but the general opinion is that it has been slow but steady."

One of the main reasons for a change in the management of tuberculosis was the lack of sanatoria beds. With the discovery of the newer methods of treatment, some centers started using drugs on their patients while waiting for admission to an available bed. However, it was soon found that this was not a sound method of approach and the policy of getting the patient into sanatorium as soon as possible was adopted teaching him how to live with his tuberculosis, getting him well started on a course of drug treatment, and discharging him to his home to carry on this treatment. This meant a drastic reduction in the number of months spent in sanatorium with the result that the waiting lists soon disappeared and all patients could be admitted to sanatorium shortly after tuberculosis was first discovered in them.

There have been many criticisms of this form of treatment and many authorities question the long-term result. It is recognized that it is much better to treat a patient at home after a relatively short period in sanatorium than not to treat him at all and thus the treatment is justified. The long-term effect has not been evaluated as yet and it will take some years before this can be done.

Treatment carried on at home involves very careful periodic examination of the patient which is made more difficult by the false sense of security a patient has. No one questions the value of sanatorium treatment and it is safe to say that no one would recommend full treatment on drugs at home. It is accepted everywhere that the acute case of pulmonary tuberculosis should be treated in bed in a sanatorium on adequate drugs; when the acute phase passes, the treatment should be kept up in protected surroundings, preferably with the patient allowed out of bed a good deal of the time.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Eighty per cent of the American people want the United States to stay in the United Nations. Only 5 per cent think the U. S. should pull out. The other 15 per cent haven't made up their minds.

Only 7 per cent of the American people have never heard of the United Nations. Of the other 93 per cent 80 per cent can name one or more of its purposes.

The major image of the United Nations in the minds of the American people is that it is an organization intended to keep the peace.

In the way of improving the UN, 85 per cent of the American people think the veto should not be used to keep nonmember countries from joining, 54 per cent think the U. S. should be given control over atomic energy, 49 per cent think the UN should be given more power to control the armed forces of all nations, only 17 per cent favor the admission of Communist China.

THESE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS of a new compilation of over 100 polls that have been taken on UN issues during the last 18 years by seven public opinion research organizations.

The studies were made by Stephen B. Withey and William A. Scott of the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

As a result of those studies, it is possible to make a fever chart on how American approval and disapproval of the UN have fluctuated since its creation in 1945. Whether the curve went up or down has depended a great deal on world events.

The UN started off in 1946 with about 40 per cent of the American people supporting it. This dropped to 25 per cent by the end of the year when Soviet Russia began to throw its vetoes around and it looked as if the UN would be a big flop.

AMERICAN APPROVAL rose gradually to 50 per cent by 1949. Right after war broke out in Korea in mid-1950 and the UN stepped into the picture to check Communist aggression, support rose to 65 per cent.

UN support dropped to 30 per cent when Communist China came into the war and it became a stalemate.

Since the signing of the Korean cease-fire agreement, American support for the UN has risen back up to the 60 per cent level. It has fluctuated a few points above and below that figure over the past year.

Over this same ten-year period, disapproval of the UN as expressed in American public opinion polls has declined from its highs of 55 per cent after the Berlin blockade by Russia and after Red China entered the Korean war, to 20 per cent today.

In general, Professors Withey, Scott and their associates conclude from their poll of polls that with minor changes, the number of Americans who have favored getting out of the UN and the number who favor staying in have remained about the same over the ten-year period.

COLLEGE GRADUATES and people of high income are found to be more dissatisfied with UN performance. These are the people who know more about world affairs, think about them more and have higher ideals on what UN should be.

Americans who are dissatisfied with the UN record to date are reported as two-thirds in favor of strengthening the UN to one-third in favor of U. S. withdrawal.

The long-term growth of American opinion in favor of some form of world organization is noted. In 1937, some 23 per cent of the people thought the U. S. should join the League of Nations. During World War 2 70 per cent thought there should be some form of world organization.

During the San Francisco UN charter conference it was 80 per cent.

In the past year, polls have indicated that 70 per cent of the American people think the U. S. should stay in the UN even if Red China is admitted to membership by majority vote. Sixty per cent favor staying in even if Russia continues her obstructiveness. Forty-seven per cent favor staying in even if the UN is a failure.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

London, May 22—Except for the British accent and the different names of the candidates and the parties, this might well be a presidential election campaign in the United States. For they have everything here including the photogenic Anthony Eden sitting like Eisenhower with arms folded before the television camera as he delivers in the best Stevenson manner an impromptu address telling how his heart beats for the people.

They even have a rhubarb going on in the press here about the accuracy or inaccuracy of Gallup polls. The Socialist Laborites, being the side that is expected to lose the election according to the public opinion polls, don't, of course, think much of the technique, while the Conservative party leaders all think it must be accurate and are warning their supporters not to become victims of so much over-confidence as to forget to vote.

"An election isn't a game," warns Herbert Morrison, who was Foreign Secretary in the Attlee Cabinet when the Socialist Labor party was last in power. "It isn't a kind of a gigantic football match. It is a very serious thing . . . It would be a pity if what is meant to be a grave constitutional duty and function should be reduced in the minds of the people to a kind of exercise in speculation."

Mr. Morrison said he had nothing, to be sure, against polls or pollsters as such, for he added that "after all, everybody is a bit of a pollster." But he objected to the use to which polls were put and the way they were presented to the public. He deplored the display "across several columns" in the newspapers of what he felt were avowedly estimates based on a "limited range of samples." Then he reminded his audience about the 1948 election in the United States when Mr. Truman was elected despite polls that indicated he would be defeated.

All this has a familiar ring. So also have the main arguments in the speeches. The big issues, to be sure, are "peace and prosperity," as we know them in America, but over here they don't rely so much on slogans. They hammer home their points in considerable detail.

Sir Anthony Eden, whose continuance as Prime Minister depends on the outcome of the election next Thursday, told a nation-wide audience on television over the week end that all the issues that he had explained in his speech, important as they were in different spheres, were dominated by one which was the greatest of them all: "Can we maintain peace?" He then repeated with emphasis the word "peace." As he moved along easily and informally in his talk, he said:

"I know there are some peo

Double Concrete System Of Roads Covers Nation

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — If you're about to drive to some place you haven't visited for a couple of years, chances are you'll ride long stretches of it on new divided freeways or new toll roads.

Despite the fact that traffic is still increasing faster than road construction, a double concrete web of deluxe highways has been spreading rapidly over the U. S. countryside and through the large cities in recent years.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads reveals that the country has 7,700 miles of divided state highways. This includes 1,500 miles of toll roads. It does not include hundreds of miles of new expressways in cities all over the U. S.

Between 600 to 700 miles per year are being added to the national highway network and 300 million dollars worth of expressways a year are being built in the cities.

HERE ARE SOME of the dramatic new toll road advances:

By November, 1956, you will be able to drive from Chicago to New York on toll roads through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The cross-state road in Ohio will be open all the way by October, 1955, and the Indiana section completed by November, 1956, according to plans.

Best estimate is that between 1960 and 1965 you will be able to drive on toll highways most of the way from Chicago to Miami, about 1,500 miles. Toll roads are "authorized" from Hammond, Ind., just outside of Chicago, to Indianapolis, across Georgia and from Ft. Pierce to Miami in Florida.

To fill in most of the gaps left by the "authorized" roads are sections "proposed" across the rest of Indiana north-south, across Kentucky, and from Jacksonville to Ft. Pierce in Florida.

When the authorized and proposed sections are complete there will be only a few gaps in Kentucky and between Georgia and Florida for the Chicago-Miami toll road drive.

ALSO BY THE EARLY 1960's it is possible that you will be able to drive from New York as far west as the Colorado-Nebraska state line on the toll roads mentioned plus those now "authorized" across Illinois and "proposed" across Iowa and Nebraska.

The longest north-south trip on toll roads and divided freeways, expected to be in use before 1960, will be from Fort Kent on the Maine-New Brunswick border, to Washington, D. C., about 750 miles. A 290-m

House Is Expected To Override Veto

Washington, May 23 (AP)—House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) said today there is a "good chance" the House will override President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay hike if it gets a chance.

Eisenhower turned down a compromise 8.6 per cent average pay boost for the half million postal workers Thursday, saying the bill was too expensive and not fair to some groups it would have affected.

The veto comes up for a Senate test tomorrow, and Eisenhower supporters say they've got enough votes to uphold the veto there. If they fail, the bill goes to the House for final action.

McCormack said in an interview: "I seriously question the judgement of the President and certainly it was not a humanitarian act."

Sperry Workers Back After Month's Strike

Lake Success, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—CIO workers at the Sperry Gyroscope Co., filed back to work today, following settlement of a month-long strike.

Some 9,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers struck last April 19, closing the mile-long plant here and two smaller Long Island plants. The company employs 16,000 workers.

On Saturday union members agreed by a vote of better than two to one to accept a two-year contract granting them an immediate 8-cent-an-hour package increase plus 5.3 cents an hour next year. The union announced it also won fringe benefits.

Originally, the union had demanded 17½ cents spread over two years.

Pre-strike wages averaged $2 an hour.

Atomized Ships Would Make U. S. Best on the Seas

New York, May 23 (AP)—A member of the Federal Maritime Board says atom-powered ships could make the United States "the preeminent maritime nation of all history."

G. Joseph Minetti, speaking at a celebration of National Maritime Day, said a planned sister ship of the 53,000-ton United States might have atomic propulsion. The United States is the world's fastest commercial ship.

He said the United States Lines is contemplating replacing the 26,314-ton liner America, built in 1940, with a new superliner.

He said he is sure the new vessel will be equivalent in size to the United States, but the final decision as to the propulsion "will be up to the company."

Last Friday, the United States Lines announced in Seattle that it is considering atomic propulsion, possibly within the next six years, to keep its passenger service up to date.

Minetti, addressing some 2,000 persons, including 500 midshipmen of the Kings Point, N. Y., U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, said the maritime board is contracting for a "roll-on, roll-off ship, the first of its kind, that will permit wheeled vehicles to come aboard and stow themselves under their own power."

Airman's Death Is Probed by Authorities

Machiasport, Maine, May 23 (AP)—The sheriff's department and federal authorities are investigating the death of a tall, blond young airman whose body was found in a gravel pit near the Bucks Harbor air force post where he was stationed.

Investigators said the body of Airman 3rd Class Frederick H. Meyer of Corona, N. Y., showed signs of mauling or beating.

A .22 caliber rifle lay beside it when the body was discovered Saturday. Officials said acquaintances of Meyer told them he had gone target-shooting.

Examination indicated the youth had not been killed by a bullet.

The gravel pit is half a mile north of the Buck Harbor station of Meyer's Unit, the 907th Aircraft Control and Warning squadron.

Ives Warns GOP Against Internal Tiffs and Reaction

New York, May 23 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives has told his fellow Republicans that they can't carry New York state in 1956 if they go in for internal bickering or reaction.

Declaring that the GOP could carry the state in next year's elections, Ives added:

"If we allow internal bickering and strife to dissipate our strength, if our chief concern is over who is to boss the Republican Party in New York state, if we permit any semblance of reaction to dominate our party councils, we cannot win.

"ON THE OTHER hand, if there is teamwork among us, if we subordinate personal ambitions to the welfare of our party, if we are united in purpose and in action, nothing can stop us from achieving victory."

The New York senator's advice is contained in a message for the Republican State Committee's 1955 yearbook. The committee released the message yesterday.

Ives urged support of Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse.

The senator, who was defeated for governor last November by Democrat Averell Harriman, noted that the Democrats failed to win either the State Senate or Assembly and that a Republican, Jacob K. Javits, was elected attorney general.

THE REPUBLICAN State Committee also released messages for the year book from President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Eisenhower said among other things that it is a fundamental purpose of the federal government to foster prosperity "in terms of better jobs, better opportunities and better living for all Americans."

Nixon, who discussed the nation's economy, said "1955 promises to be the best year in our economic history."

Barclay Homes To Open Sept. 15

Occupancy of the first section of the Barclay Heights Development will commence about Sept. 15, it was announced today by Jack Davis, president of the Barclay Heights Development Corporation.

Roads are now being cut through the development, and construction will begin as soon as possible, he said.

The two model homes erected on the site were formally opened to the public the weekend of May 14-15, and a count taken disclosed that more than 3,000 persons inspected the homes at that time, according to Mr. Davis.

"Business was far above all expectations for an opening day, and still continues in a brisk manner," Davis said. Most of the first section has been sold, he revealed. The firm's sales staff is being increased to service the numbers of prospective buyers who are expected to visit the development again this weekend, he said.

Asks Harriman Probe Street Gangs in N. Y.

New York, May 23 (AP)—Robert Daru, president of the New York Criminal and Civil Courts Bar Assn., has asked Gov. Averell Harriman to call a special session of the Legislature in June to deal with juvenile street violence in New York City.

Daru wrote to the Governor yesterday and told him the situation "cannot wait" a conference scheduled for the fall by the temporary commission on juvenile delinquency, which was set up by the Legislature.

"Violence has been and is increasing," Daru wrote, "and I predict that it will become so bad that a special session of the Legislautre will be unavoidable. So it may just as well be called now instead of waiting until the members of the Legislature get far from Albany on their vacations."

Daru said a subcommittee of his association's committee on justice has been named to draft curfew legislation for teen-agers, which would give police more power to break up youth gangs.

Javits Clears Medical Examiner

New York, May 23 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits says no evidence was found that a Queens assistant medical examiner, who took his own life a year after charges of irregularities in his work, "personally profited by any acts on his part."

The physician, Dr. Jacob Werne, 49, hanged himself last month. More than a year ago a Queens grand jury charged he permitted unauthorized persons to perform his autopsies and removed eyes from dead persons for an eye bank without permission from relatives of the dead.

In a report made public yesterday, Javits said "I find no basis for recommending disciplinary proceedings.

"The tragic, untimely death of Dr. Werne makes useless any further reference to his particular involvement in the general criticism made by the Queens county grand jury."

Teenagers Charged With Armed Robberies

New York, May 23 (AP)—A 15-year-old alleged gang leader and four teen-age companions have been charged with committing a string of armed robberies in Brooklyn.

Police said the five admitted 12 holdups of drug stores, gasoline stations and laundries in the past four months, netting about $4,000 and spending it to entertain their girl friends.

Police say they believe, however, that the gang committed at least 30 robberies.

The arrest of the 15-year-old, whose name was withheld, led to the roundup of the others yesterday.

Police gave this account:

A witness saw the five Saturday as they drove off after robbing a drug store of $140. He jotted down the license number of their car and notified police.

The number was traced to a plate stolen from a restaurateur, who told police he suspected a 15-year-old boy took it.

The boy was arrested and admitted a string of robberies, implicating the others. At his home police found a .38 caliber pistol, apparently used in the stickups.

Others arrested were:

Mrs. Gordon Elected Fourth Time As NAACP State Head

Saratoga Spring, May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Effie Gordon of Rye was elected Sunday to her fourth term as president of the New York Chapter, National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People.

Reelected were: O. C. Turner of North White Plains, treasurer; Robert Brown of Port Chester, corresponding secretary atnd Mrs. Ann Aldrich of Great Neck, youth adviser.

In a resolution, the group pledged $500 to help the National organization investigate and publicize the unsolved death of the Rev. George Lee at Belzoni, Miss., May 7. The negro minister was found dying in his wrecked car. Later, the FBI laboratory reported that it founds in his face bits of metal similar to No. 3 buckshot.

Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the NAACP, urged the 200 state delegates not to "talk about a southern problem" in regard to negroes.

"We all know that these problems exist equally in the enlightened north," Hill said. "It is just that Jim Crow conditions are a bit more sugar-coated" in the north.

The state youth NAACP conference elected Alvin Simon of the Bronx as president.

Also elected by the youth group were: Dorothy Aldrich of Great Neck, first vice president; Margaret Peay of Rye, second vice president; Claudette Paisley of New York city, recording secretary; Virginia Moore of Copaigue, corresponding secretary, and Babbette Stubbs of Poughkeepsie, treasurer.

House Is Expected To Override Veto

Washington, May 23 (AP)—House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) said today there is a "good chance" the House will override President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay hike if it gets a chance.

Eisenhower turned down a compromise 8.6 per cent average pay boost for the half million postal workers Thursday, saying the bill was too expensive and not fair to some groups it would have affected.

The veto comes up for a Senate test tomorrow, and Eisenhower supporters say they've got enough votes to uphold the veto there. If they fail, the bill goes to the House for final action.

McCormack said in an interview: "I seriously question the judgement of the President and certainly it was not a humanitarian act."

Sperry Workers Back After Month's Strike

Lake Success, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—CIO workers at the Sperry Gyroscope Co., filed back to work today, following settlement of a month-long strike.

Some 9,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers struck last April 19, closing the mile-long plant here and two smaller Long Island plants. The company employs 16,000 workers.

On Saturday union members agreed by a vote of better than two to one to accept a two-year contract granting them an immediate 8-cent-an-hour package increase plus 5.3 cents an hour next year. The union announced it also won fringe benefits.

Originally, the union had demanded 17½ cents spread over two years.

Pre-strike wages averaged $2 an hour.

Ives Warns GOP Against Internal Tiffs and Reaction

New York, May 23 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives has told his fellow Republicans that they can't carry New York state in 1956 if they go in for internal bickering or reaction.

Declaring that the GOP could carry the state in next year's elections, Ives added:

"If we allow internal bickering and strife to dissipate our strength, if our chief concern is over who is to boss the Republican Party in New York state, if we permit any semblance of reaction to dominate our party councils, we cannot win.

"ON THE OTHER hand, if there is teamwork among us, if we subordinate personal ambitions to the welfare of our party, if we are united in purpose and in action, nothing can stop us from achieving victory."

The New York senator's advice is contained in a message for the Republican State Committee's 1955 yearbook. The committee released the message yesterday.

The senator, who was defeated for governor last November by Democrat Averell Harriman, noted that the Democrats failed to win either the State Senate or Assembly and that a Republican, Jacob K. Javits, was elected attorney general.

Reelected were: O. C. Turner of North White Plains, treasurer; Robert Brown of Port Chester, corresponding secretary atnd Mrs. Ann Aldrich of Great Neck, youth adviser.

In a resolution, the group pledged $500 to help the National organization investigate and publicize the unsolved death of the Rev. George Lee at Belzoni, Miss., May 7. The negro minister was found dying in his wrecked car. Later, the FBI laboratory reported that it founds in his face bits of metal similar to No. 3 buckshot.

Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the NAACP, urged the 200 state delegates not to "talk about a southern problem" in regard to negroes.

"We all know that these problems exist equally in the enlightened north," Hill said. "It is just that Jim Crow conditions are a bit more sugar-coated" in the north.

The state youth NAACP conference elected Alvin Simon of the Bronx as president.

Also elected by the youth group were: Dorothy Aldrich of Great Neck, first vice president; Margaret Peay of Rye, second vice president; Claudette Paisley of New York city, recording secretary; Virginia Moore of Copaigue, corresponding secretary, and Babbette Stubbs of Poughkeepsie, treasurer.

TO INSIST WOULD FORFEIT POPULARITY

A woman writes: "Will you please tell me how to correctly handle the following situation: We have recently moved to a small town. I have always called myself Mrs. John Brown, and cannot bear to be called Mrs. Jane. As far as I can tell most of the women here prefix Mrs. to their own first names. My question is, how can I join in community activities and avoid having Mrs. tacked on to my Christian name in club listings. The problem is further complicated by the fact that my husband holds a rather important position in this small town, so I must be very careful not to give the impression of being a snob. Is there a tactful way to cope with this problem?"

Your wish to be known as Mrs. John Brown is definitely correct. But as a newcomer you cannot set yourself up as a critic of an established community custom without endangering your popularity. You can, of course, give your own name as Mrs. John Brown but if they do not choose to follow this form in their listings, then I am afraid you will have to submit to Mrs. Jane—at least until you have become an established member of the community, and then explain that you happen to dislike your own name used with the title Mrs. and love your husband's and do like to be called by it.

Inviting Friends of Bridesmaids and Ushers

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and will have four bridesmaids and two ushers. I would like to know if I am supposed to ask the attendants if there is anyone they would especially like to ask to the wedding. My sister tells me that this is the courteous thing to do. I have never heard of this before but want to do what is expected of me.

Answer: This is not necessary or usual, but if you have room for more guests, it might please your bridesmaids and ushers very much to have some friends of theirs invited.

May Shoes Be Removed

Dear Mrs. Post: When traveling a long distance on a coach train, is it proper to remove one's shoes at night before going to sleep?

Answer: If you are more comfortable with them off, you may certainly remove them.

What dress is worn by the guest at the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Clothes for daytime or evening receptions are described in leaflet E-6. Is there a tactful way to cope with this problem?"

Your wish to be known as Mrs. John Brown is definitely correct. But as a newcomer you cannot set yourself up as a critic of an established community custom without endangering your popularity. You can, of course, give your own name as Mrs. John Brown but if they do not choose to follow this form in their listings, then I am afraid you will have to submit to Mrs. Jane—at least until you have become an established member of the community, and then explain that you happen to dislike your own name used with the title Mrs. and love your husband's and do like to be called by it.

Inviting Friends of Bridesmaids and Ushers

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and will have four bridesmaids and two ushers. I would like to know if I am supposed to ask the attendants if there is anyone they would especially like to ask to the wedding. My sister tells me that this is the courteous thing to do. I have never heard of this before but want to do what is expected of me.

Answer: This is not necessary or usual, but if you have room for more guests, it might please your bridesmaids and ushers very much to have some friends of theirs invited.

May Shoes Be Removed

Dear Mrs. Post: When traveling a long distance on a coach train, is it proper to remove one's shoes at night before going to sleep?

Answer: If you are more comfortable with them off, you may certainly remove them.

Speaker at GOP Luncheon Urges Tammany Defeat

The greatest responsibility of the individual Republican of New York State is to work toward the defeat of the present "New Deal-Fair Deal, Tammany Hall" state administration, Mrs. John R. Tinklepaugh, vice chairman of the Columbia County Republican Committee, said in a talk here Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Tinklepaugh addressed more than 100 members at the annual spring luncheon of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

CHARGING THAT on the national scene the "two administrations before Eisenhower proved themselves incapable of prosperity without war," Mrs. Tinklepaugh called upon the Republican women to work "not only to maintain but to increase the Republican vote."

The Eisenhower Republican administration has brought the "greatest peacetime prosperity in the history of the country," she contended.

RESPONSIBILITIES of the Republican woman voter, she said, were these:

1. To vote, and urge family and friends to vote.
2. To enroll, and thereby assume "the complete advantage of the franchise."
3. Make sure everyone eligible takes advantage of the absentee ballot.
4. Belong to a Republican club, or, "if you happen to live in an area where there isn't one, start one."
5. Know the elected members of the county committee in your own election district.

Mrs. Tinklepaugh also urged her listeners to support the two-party system and urge others to do so. Pointed out the fallacy of the theory of voting for the "best man," she contended there are "excellent men on all tickets" and that "any person on any ticket stands for the philosophies and policies of that party."

"THE NEXT STEP to so many independent voters is so many small parties," Mrs. Tinklepaugh said. When Hitler came into power, there were 55 different political parties in Germany and he was elected by only 12 per cent of the popular vote, she pointed out.

Mrs. Tinklepaugh urged that the United States be referred to more frequently as a republic, instead of always as a democracy, and that the present national administration be referred to as the "Eisenhower Republican administration" rather than just the "Eisenhower administration."

Mrs. Tinklepaugh, who served as a member of the rules and resolutions committee at the New York State Republican Convention last year, prefaced her talk with a step-by-step outline of how a party platform is formulated.

Mrs. Harry Nash, president of the Columbia County Women's Republican Club, accompanied Mrs. Tinklepaugh to Kingston and made a brief address of greeting, in which she complimented the Ulster county group for its record of activity.

MRS. LESLIE HOTALING, president of the Ulster county club, presided. She read to the group a telegram from State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, county Republican chairman, and Mrs. Wicks, expressing regret at being unable to attend as they are in Florida.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Robert Rognon, first vice president, and the Pledge to The Flag was led by Mrs. Harry Relyea, second vice president.

Schafer Returns From Y Meeting

Louis H. Schafer, general secretary of the YMCA, just returned from a week end conference of the Young Adult program group composed of the "Y's" of New York state. There were 38 present. Many "Y's" have program for the physical and social groups. Most secretaries were looking for definite club group setups, such as the men's clubs, Phalanks, co-ed groupings and the like. Mr. Schafer stated that he received many good ideas and hoped to put them to practice this fall.

Starting today William Irland, "Y" physical director, will go to Mohonk for three days to attend the annual conference of the New York State Physical Directors Society. A splendid program is planned by the executive committee and the officers in the New York state office. This is one of the largest professional group meetings in

Sermon to Royalty Adds to Graham's Prestige Overseas

Windsor, England, May 23 (AP) — American Evangelist Billy Graham's prestige rose to new heights in Britain today following his first sermon for Queen Elizabeth and the royal family.

The 36-year-old American preached at the Queen's invitation for 25 minutes yesterday in the private chapel at Windsor's royal lodge, 20 miles west of London. Afterward he and his wife lunched with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Queen and the Duke drove over from nearby Windsor Castle for the private service, which was attended also by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret. It was Graham's first meeting with the monarch.

OF THE HONOR, Graham told reporters: "I can only say that it was a great privilege to be at Windsor today and that the Queen was very charming and gracious to us." Spokesmen for the royal family treated the matter as a private royal engagement and would give no details.

Other sources said Graham took as his text Acts 27:25: "Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: For I believe God, that it shall be even as he told me."

Queen Elizabeth is titular head of the Church of England and "defender of the faith." Although her church has never officially endorsed Graham's crusades, it has given them strong support. Last year Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, primate of the Church of England and Archbishop of Canterbury, appeared at one of his meetings. An Anglican bishop, the Rt. Rev. Hugh Gough, has headed the arrangements committee for Graham's campaigns in England.

ALTHOUGH ordained a southern Baptist minister, Graham has emphasized an interdenominational approach in his crusades.

The evangelist wound up his seven weeks of public meetings in Scotland and London Saturday night with an impassioned sermon before 90,000 in the capital's Wembley Stadium. The meeting was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Graham's aides said attendance at his meetings in Britain this year totaled 3,139,365.

Graham left for Edinburgh last night to attend a general assembly of the church of Scotland. Next Sunday he will go to Paris to begin crusade meetings on the continent.

Graham's aides said attendance at his meetings in Britain this year totaled 3,139,365.

Graham left for Edinburgh last night to attend a general assembly of the church of Scotland. Next Sunday he will go to Paris to begin crusade meetings on the continent.

James Stevens, Appointed Masons' Deputy Grand Master

James C. Stevens of Greenville has been appointed district deputy grand master for the Ulster-Greene Masonic District, it was announced today by Raymond C. Ellis of Brooklyn, Grand Master of Masons in the state. He succeeds Gordon A. Craig, Sr., of Kingston, and will serve for one year. The Greene-Ulster district has 14 Masonic Lodges with a membership of over 3,600.

A member and Past Master of James M. Austin Lodge, 557, Mr. Stevens is very active in the Masonic affairs of the district. He is also a member of the Greenville Chapter, 283; the Lafayette Commandery, 7, and the Cyprus Temple of the Shrine. Mr. Stevens is in the insurance business and is an active member of the Greenville Presbyterian Church.

Re-appointed to the Grand Lodge committee on endowments was Roger H. Loughran of Kingston.

They will be invested in their Masonic offices at Utica on St. John's Day, June 19.

The district deputy from this district for the past year has worked diligently to assist in raising $750,000 for the Masonic Research Center at Utica. Money for the building and equipment is already on hand. The ground will be broken by the grand master on St. John's Day, June 19.

During the past nine years, the lodges of the State of New York, have raised $1,391,999.40 for Rheumatic Fever research. This research has been conducted at six medical schools in New York State and also at Irvington House, Irvington-on-the-Hudson and the Bronx Hospital. This work in Rheumatic Fever Research will be continued at the new Research Center in Utica. Immediately the building is in operation, research also will be started on the problems of the aging. All results discovered will be made available to peoples of all races, creeds and nationalities.

One of the big tasks of the incoming district deputy of this area will be to have all of the lodges assist in the 175th anniversary of the establishment of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. This celebration will commence January 1, 1956 and will continue during the entire year. Programs marking the event and celebrations of various kinds will be carried out in all parts of the state.

As the personal representative of Grand Master Ellis, the new district deputy will make official visits to all the Lodges in this jurisdiction. He will also carry the personal message of the grand master to each of the Lodges, and be available to all Masons for consultation.

Army Engineers Ask $10,791,650 For Flood Control

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Army engineers want to spend $10,791,650 for flood control and beach erosion projects in New England and New York in the year beginning July 1.

Details of what they want to do were made public today by a House appropriation subcommittee which heard testimony by spokesmen for the engineers.

THE AREA involved includes all of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; those portions of Vermont and New York which drain into the Connecticut and Housatonic rivers and the Hudson river above New York city; and Long Island, exclusive of New York city.

Of the $10,791,650 total proposed to be included in a nationwide navigation-flood control-beach erosion appropriation bill yet to be placed before the House, $79,250 would be for general investigations in the New England area; $315,000 for advance engineering and design; $5,900,000 for construction, and $4,497,400 for operation and maintenance of present projects.

Col. J. U. Allen, assistant chief of civil works for rivers and harbors, said the appropriations asked would permit "the orderly progression of the over-all program necessary to meet the present needs of navigation, flood control and beach erosion."

BRIG. GEN. E. C. ITSCHNER, assistant chief of engineers for public works, told the committee that of the $79,250 requested for 12 studies in New England, $49,000 had been tentatively allocated to complete nine navigation studies, including those at Greenwich Cove, Conn., $2,700, and Moriches and Shinnecock Inlets (N. Y.) $16,400

There were no tentative allocations for flood control studies but $30,250 was asked to complete cooperative beach erosion studies, including one at Fire Island Inlet to Montauk Point (Suffolk county), Long Island, N. Y., $22,400.

For shore protection of three beaches in the area the engineers asked $167,000 to start and finish protective works at Hammonasset Beach, Long Island.

Flood control money asked included:

FOLLY BROOK, Hartford, Conn., $263,000, to initiate and complete.

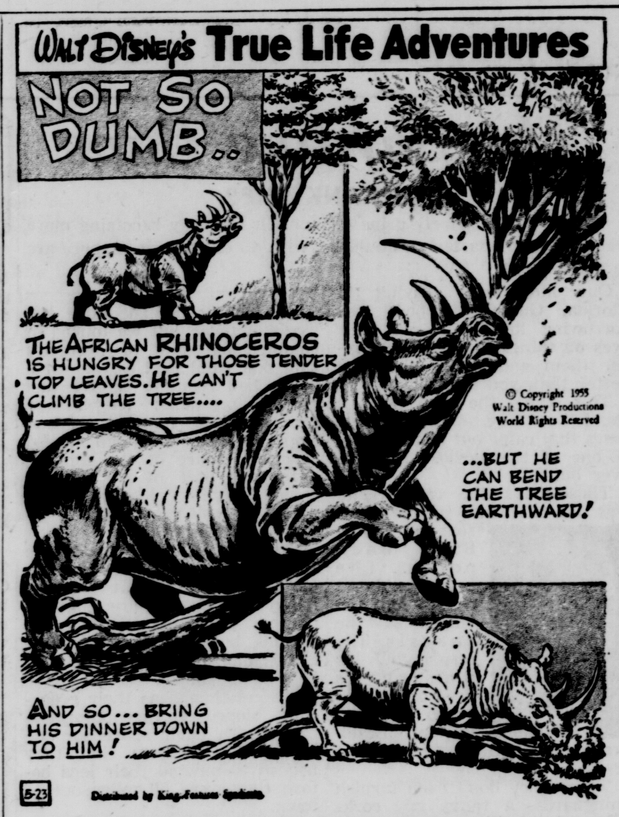

The $4,497,400 asked for operation and mantenance of projects would be allocated to include:

Navigation — Connecticut — Bridgeport harbor, $280,000; Connecticut river below Hartford, $260,000; New Haven harbor, $370,000; Norwalk harbor, $100,000; Stamford harbor, $50,000.

New York — Bay Ridge and Red Hook channels, $180,000; East River $70,000; East Rockaway inlet, $70,000; Fire Island inlet, $50,000; Hudson River $460,000; Hudson River channel, $270,000; Long Island intercoastal waterway $140,000; Newtown Creek, $180,000; New York harbor, $460,000; New York harbor, collection of drift, $250,000, and Westchester creek, $140,000.

There wasn't any problem about the play of today's hand. West took the first trick with the ace of hearts, and South took the rest. Declarer was able to draw trumps in two rounds and could then show his hand and claim the rest of the tricks.

Naturally, North and South were disappointed at having missed a laydown slam. Just as naturally, each accused the other of underbidding.

"How could I bid any more?" asked South. "I didn't have a proper opening bid, yet I opened and then shifted to a different suit."

"How could I bid a slam?" asked North. "For all I knew we could easily lose two heart tricks, and perhaps another trick as well."

The slam is very difficult to bid and the chances are that most players would have missed it also. Nevertheless, it should have been bid and the fault lies with North.

Today most players treat the jump shift response as a sort of sacred cow and require the most tremendous hands for it. The theory is that they can exchange information at a low level. There is no need for this low exchange with this hand. North wants to play at least four spades and to suggest possibilities of more. Hence, he should respond with three clubs and jump to four spades over three diamonds. Now South would know the importance of his singleton heart and would simply bid six spades.

Slides Through Door

Charlotte, N. C., May 23 (AP)—Albert Freeman of Charlotte made a dash for the marquee of a department store yesterday when it began to rain. Police said Freeman couldn't stop in time and when his feet came in contact with the tile under the marquee he fell flat on his back, sliding through a plate glass door. Freeman was uninjured.

Lower Prices and Less Tension Point to Easier Summer Living

New York, May 23 (AP)—Living should be easier this summer. This cheerful hope is based on two trends:

Prices should be held down by food abundance, the prospect for less world tension, and stiff competition for customers at the retail level. Already the government's cost of living index has slipped to the lowest point in two years.

AT THE SAME TIME, pressure is building up for higher wage scales, which added to longer work weeks would mean more take home pay. And over the horizon of the new year is the promise of a cut in taxes.

This happy state of affairs can't just be pulled out of thin air. Some one will be getting less. The chances are the farmer will be getting a little less per unit for the food he raises —unless weather sabotages the crops and makes for shortages.

Businessmen fear that they will have to pay more for labor and also for some of the materials they buy. Many a merchant will pare his profit margin now and then to get customers into his store. Some of the weaker ones may be far from happy.

THERE ARE COMPENSATIONS, however. Increased productivity — that is, producing more goods per man hour through better plants and tools—may help offset the expected hike in wage scales.

If world tension eases as some now hope, pressure on commodity prices may be lessened. Too, the prospects for tax cuts will be just that much brighter if the cold war be laid aside, if only for a while.

And the surpluses of many farm commodities—built up over the years—dampens the offchance of too much pressure for higher prices even if the weather proves disastrous for crops.

THE ABUNDANCE of cheap feed has encouraged farmers to raise more hogs. The price of hogs is lower now than a year ago and a six per cent bigger pig crop last spring means more pork this fall.

Food abundance and fatter paychecks encourage Americans to eat more meat and this year they are expected to eat 23 more pounds per person than they did in the 1930's.

Not all foods will be as abundant as last year. Poultry raisers and dairy farmers have cut back on production. Late spring frosts nipped the strawberry, peach and early potato crops—prices of these will tend higher. But so far the weather has been good to most of the nation's major crops.

MUCH OF THE EASIER living will be the prize of the good shopper. Price lists haven't been pared much. But auto customers have been able to get price concessions. Newspaper ads are full of promotion bargains in items of clothing and furniture —although total sales are up this year.

High production levels with the resultant fierce competition for customers has led to the rash of discount stores and to price-cutting promotions. The Department of Labor reports, for example, that the purchase price of autos dropped four per cent between March and April, although list prices didn't budge.

And the department reports that for the first time in 13 years there were more declines than advances in rents this April. This grows out of the big home building boom in recent years. As families moved out of rental quarters into homes of their own, vacancies at last have increased and rents softened here and there.

For all of which—if it continues—the long harassed consumer can be thankful.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

These are tough years for youth. Tough on Dad and Ma, also. The draft has been in effect fourteen years,—the longest period in our history.

Young men have gone to war, returned, married, had babies, and gone again. Now Universal (and permanent) Military Training threatens them. This is a swell smelling name for Conscription, the curse of Europe since Napoleon's time.

Mr. Button

The Europeanization of America proceeds apace. And for what? Churchill tells the score. "We have still not found Peace or Security, and we lie in the grip of even worse perils than those we have surmounted."

Never before has the future of our youngsters been so unsettled. Why finish school or make plans? With the draft ahead of him, no young man can feel secure in a job, or a home of his own until he is in his late twenties. Nor can his girl.

I'm sorry for them. It's a tribute to their basic soundness that there is as little juvenile delinquency and vandalism as there is, — bad as it is.

The sooner we end the draft and go back to voluntary enlistment, the better.

Neighbor, let's stop blaming our kids for the failures of their elders. Our kids weren't at Yalta! Lend them a hand.

Flier Thinks Mark Won't Last Long

Los Angeles, May 23 (AP)—The flier who won his race with the sun from coast to coast and back thinks his record won't last long.

"After all, the sabre jet is six years old," said 1st Lt. John M. Conroy of the California Air National Guard. "There are faster fighters."

On Saturday, armed forces day and the 28th anniversary of Lindbergh's landing in Paris, Conroy ate breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York and dinner in Los Angeles again.

He flew the sabre, nicknamed the "California Boomerang," about 5,085 miles in 11 hours, 26 minutes and 33 seconds including the time for quick turnaround, refulling stops and lunch in New York. That averaged about 445 M.P.H.

Conroy's east-to-west flight in 5 hours 27 minutes 37 seconds shaved more than an hour off Paul Mantz' 1947 mark of 7:00:04. His west-east leg was slower than the mark of 3:46:33 set by air force Lt. Col. Robert D. Scott last March 10 in an F84F.

Double Concrete

erick, Md., to Washington is now completed to Rockville, Md. and by 1965 a four-lane freeway from Frederick to the Turnpike will be completed.

One of the most celebrated city expressways is being completed at Pittsburgh. When finished in 1959 it will cost 150 million dollars. It provides an east-west through route, eases downtown traffic and provides a link with the Turnpike.

THE MOST PUBLICIZED city expressway system is in Los Angeles.

Cleveland will spend 29½ million dollars on an eight-lane expressway.

At Detroit a total of 138 million dollars has been spent on the Edsel Ford and John C. Lodge expressways which include more than 23 miles of roads eliminating the Motor City's notorious traffic bottlenecks.

All of the toll roads have been financed by sale of revenue bonds through special state turnpike commissions. Details of the financing vary.

In the 15 states with toll roads, only five back up the bonds with full faith and credit of the states. And only six secure the bonds with other than toll revenues. But you, the busy motorist, make them considered sound investments.

States building roads considered part of the Federal network can get 60 per cent of the cost paid for by Uncle Sam under a new law. This arrangement will apply if the President's 101 billion dollar proposed road building program is passed. The old formula was a 50-50 matching arrangement.

A NEW ROAD FINANCING development has taken place in Texas, with two private firms getting permission to build and operate long sections of highway.

The firms are the Sam Houston Turnpike Corp., which will build "the nation's finest highway," from Waco to San Antonio; and the Texas Turnpike Co., which plans ultimately to build a road from the Oklahoma border to Corpus Christi. The first leg will be between Houston and Dallas.

Both firms will finance the projects by the sale of bonds and will be non-profit except for the salaries paid to officials. And when the bonds are paid off the state will get control of the highways.

Despite their rapid growth the toll road idea is opposed by trucking groups for obvious reasons. They don't like the extra cost of using toll highways. And motor clubs like the American Automobile Association are opposed to them.

AAA spokesmen claim that a toll road is double taxation on the motorist. The motorist pays both a toll and gasoline taxes. It is also pointed out that even after toll roads are paid for, no one seeks to end the collection of tolls.

Cites Practical Program

Monticello, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Philip M. Klutznick of Chicago, international president of B'nai B'rith, urges disarmament conference "on a year-round basis." The leader of the Jewish organization says the world needs international disarmament programs that "are not showpieces to be taken out a conferences once in a while." The convention is being attended by 1,800 delegates.

111 Close Relatives

Instruction Left Out

Lake Placid, May 23 (AP)—The destination was a secret yesterday when 30 sports cars set out on a "trial run" from Syracuse. Each driver carried detailed route instructions. But an anonymous typist left out one detail —where to turn off the state thruway. Ten arrived at the Lake Placid destination by opening sealed envelopes. Others reported by telephone from Albany and as far south as Poughkeepsie.

Army Engineers Ask $10,791,650 For Flood Control

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Army engineers want to spend $10,791,650 for flood control and beach erosion projects in New England and New York in the year beginning July 1.

Details of what they want to do were made public today by a House appropriation subcommittee which heard testimony by spokesmen for the engineers.

THE AREA involved includes all of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; those portions of Vermont and New York which drain into the Connecticut and Housatonic rivers and the Hudson river above New York city; and Long Island, exclusive of New York city.

Of the $10,791,650 total proposed to be included in a nationwide navigation-flood control-beach erosion appropriation bill yet to be placed before the House, $79,250 would be for general investigations in the New England area; $315,000 for advance engineering and design; $5,900,000 for construction, and $4,497,400 for operation and maintenance of present projects.

Col. J. U. Allen, assistant chief of civil works for rivers and harbors, said the appropriations asked would permit "the orderly progression of the over-all program necessary to meet the present needs of navigation, flood control and beach erosion."

BRIG. GEN. E. C. ITSCHNER, assistant chief of engineers for public works, told the committee that of the $79,250 requested for 12 studies in New England, $49,000 had been tentatively allocated to complete nine navigation studies, including those at Greenwich Cove, Conn., $2,700, and Moriches and Shinnecock Inlets (N. Y.) $16,400

There were no tentative allocations for flood control studies but $30,250 was asked to complete cooperative beach erosion studies, including one at Fire Island Inlet to Montauk Point (Suffolk county), Long Island, N. Y., $22,400.

For shore protection of three beaches in the area the engineers asked $167,000 to start and finish protective works at Hammonasset Beach, Long Island.

Flood control money asked included:

FOLLY BROOK, Hartford, Conn., $263,000, to initiate and complete.

The $4,497,400 asked for operation and mantenance of projects would be allocated to include:

Navigation — Connecticut — Bridgeport harbor, $280,000; Connecticut river below Hartford, $260,000; New Haven harbor, $370,000; Norwalk harbor, $100,000; Stamford harbor, $50,000.

New York — Bay Ridge and Red Hook channels, $180,000; East River $70,000; East Rockaway inlet, $70,000; Fire Island inlet, $50,000; Hudson River $460,000; Hudson River channel, $270,000; Long Island intercoastal waterway $140,000; Newtown Creek, $180,000; New York harbor, $460,000; New York harbor, collection of drift, $250,000, and Westchester creek, $140,000.

Scranton, Pa. (AP)—A five foot weeping willow tree planted at the Young Men's Park as a memorial to a bishop of the Polish National Church was stolen.

There wasn't any problem about the play of today's hand. West took the first trick with the ace of hearts, and South took the rest. Declarer was able to draw trumps in two rounds and could then show his hand and claim the rest of the tricks.

Naturally, North and South were disappointed at having missed a laydown slam. Just as naturally, each accused the other of underbidding.

"How could I bid any more?" asked South. "I didn't have a proper opening bid, yet I opened and then shifted to a different suit."

"How could I bid a slam?" asked North. "For all I knew we could easily lose two heart tricks, and perhaps another trick as well."

The slam is very difficult to bid and the chances are that most players would have missed it also. Nevertheless, it should have been bid and the fault lies with North.

Today most players treat the jump shift response as a sort of sacred cow and require the most tremendous hands for it. The theory is that they can exchange information at a low level. There is no need for this low exchange with this hand. North wants to play at least four spades and to suggest possibilities of more. Hence, he should respond with three clubs and jump to four spades over three diamonds. Now South would know the importance of his singleton heart and would simply bid six spades.

Slides Through Door

Charlotte, N. C., May 23 (AP)—Albert Freeman of Charlotte made a dash for the marquee of a department store yesterday when it began to rain. Police said Freeman couldn't stop in time and when his feet came in contact with the tile under the marquee he fell flat on his back, sliding through a plate glass door. Freeman was uninjured.

Fresh Vs. Salty

Lake Nicaragua, 100-mile-long lake in Nicaragua, is the only fresh-water lake in the world containing salt-water fish. Sawfish weighing 700 pounds and sharks of 200 pounds are caught there.

Lower Prices and Less Tension Point to Easier Summer Living

New York, May 23 (AP)—Living should be easier this summer. This cheerful hope is based on two trends:

Prices should be held down by food abundance, the prospect for less world tension, and stiff competition for customers at the retail level. Already the government's cost of living index has slipped to the lowest point in two years.

AT THE SAME TIME, pressure is building up for higher wage scales, which added to longer work weeks would mean more take home pay. And over the horizon of the new year is the promise of a cut in taxes.

This happy state of affairs can't just be pulled out of thin air. Some one will be getting less. The chances are the farmer will be getting a little less per unit for the food he raises —unless weather sabotages the crops and makes for shortages.

Businessmen fear that they will have to pay more for labor and also for some of the materials they buy. Many a merchant will pare his profit margin now and then to get customers into his store. Some of the weaker ones may be far from happy.

THERE ARE COMPENSATIONS, however. Increased productivity — that is, producing more goods per man hour through better plants and tools—may help offset the expected hike in wage scales.

If world tension eases as some now hope, pressure on commodity prices may be lessened. Too, the prospects for tax cuts will be just that much brighter if the cold war be laid aside, if only for a while.

And the surpluses of many farm commodities—built up over the years—dampens the offchance of too much pressure for higher prices even if the weather proves disastrous for crops.

THE ABUNDANCE of cheap feed has encouraged farmers to raise more hogs. The price of hogs is lower now than a year ago and a six per cent bigger pig crop last spring means more pork this fall.

Food abundance and fatter paychecks encourage Americans to eat more meat and this year they are expected to eat 23 more pounds per person than they did in the 1930's.

Not all foods will be as abundant as last year. Poultry raisers and dairy farmers have cut back on production. Late spring frosts nipped the strawberry, peach and early potato crops—prices of these will tend higher. But so far the weather has been good to most of the nation's major crops.

MUCH OF THE EASIER living will be the prize of the good shopper. Price lists haven't been pared much. But auto customers have been able to get price concessions. Newspaper ads are full of promotion bargains in items of clothing and furniture —although total sales are up this year.

High production levels with the resultant fierce competition for customers has led to the rash of discount stores and to price-cutting promotions. The Department of Labor reports, for example, that the purchase price of autos dropped four per cent between March and April, although list prices didn't budge.

And the department reports that for the first time in 13 years there were more declines than advances in rents this April. This grows out of the big home building boom in recent years. As families moved out of rental quarters into homes of their own, vacancies at last have increased and rents softened here and there.

For all of which—if it continues—the long harassed consumer can be thankful.

Double Concrete

erick, Md., to Washington is now completed to Rockville, Md. and by 1965 a four-lane freeway from Frederick to the Turnpike will be completed.

One of the most celebrated city expressways is being completed at Pittsburgh. When finished in 1959 it will cost 150 million dollars. It provides an east-west through route, eases downtown traffic and provides a link with the Turnpike.

THE MOST PUBLICIZED city expressway system is in Los Angeles.

Cleveland will spend 29½ million dollars on an eight-lane expressway.

At Detroit a total of 138 million dollars has been spent on the Edsel Ford and John C. Lodge expressways which include more than 23 miles of roads eliminating the Motor City's notorious traffic bottlenecks.

All of the toll roads have been financed by sale of revenue bonds through special state turnpike commissions. Details of the financing vary.

In the 15 states with toll roads, only five back up the bonds with full faith and credit of the states. And only six secure the bonds with other than toll revenues. But you, the busy motorist, make them considered sound investments.

States building roads considered part of the Federal network can get 60 per cent of the cost paid for by Uncle Sam under a new law. This arrangement will apply if the President's 101 billion dollar proposed road building program is passed. The old formula was a 50-50 matching arrangement.

A NEW ROAD FINANCING development has taken place in Texas, with two private firms getting permission to build and operate long sections of highway.

The firms are the Sam Houston Turnpike Corp., which will build "the nation's finest highway," from Waco to San Antonio; and the Texas Turnpike Co., which plans ultimately to build a road from the Oklahoma border to Corpus Christi. The first leg will be between Houston and Dallas.

Both firms will finance the projects by the sale of bonds and will be non-profit except for the salaries paid to officials. And when the bonds are paid off the state will get control of the highways.

Despite their rapid growth the toll road idea is opposed by trucking groups for obvious reasons. They don't like the extra cost of using toll highways. And motor clubs like the American Automobile Association are opposed to them.

AAA spokesmen claim that a toll road is double taxation on the motorist. The motorist pays both a toll and gasoline taxes. It is also pointed out that even after toll roads are paid for, no one seeks to end the collection of tolls.

Cites Practical Program

Monticello, N. Y., May 23 (AP) —Philip M. Klutznick of Chicago, international president of B'nai B'rith, urges disarmament conference "on a year-round basis." The leader of the Jewish organization says the world needs international disarmament programs that "are not showpieces to be taken out a conferences once in a while." The convention is being attended by 1,800 delegates.

111 Close Relatives

Instruction Left Out

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

These are tough years for youth. Tough on Dad and Ma, also. The draft has been in effect fourteen years,—the longest period in our history.

Young men have gone to war, returned, married, had babies, and gone again. Now Universal (and permanent) Military Training threatens them. This is a swell smelling name for Conscription, the curse of Europe since Napoleon's time.

Mr. Button

The Europeanization of America proceeds apace. And for what? Churchill tells the score. "We have still not found Peace or Security, and we lie in the grip of even worse perils than those we have surmounted."

Never before has the future of our youngsters been so unsettled. Why finish school or make plans? With the draft ahead of him, no young man can feel secure in a job, or a home of his own until he is in his late twenties. Nor can his girl.

I'm sorry for them. It's a tribute to their basic soundness that there is as little juvenile delinquency and vandalism as there is, — bad as it is.

The sooner we end the draft and go back to voluntary enlistment, the better.

Flier Thinks Mark Won't Last Long

Los Angeles, May 23 (AP)—The flier who won his race with the sun from coast to coast and back thinks his record won't last long.

"After all, the sabre jet is six years old," said 1st Lt. John M. Conroy of the California Air National Guard. "There are faster fighters."

On Saturday, armed forces day and the 28th anniversary of Lindbergh's landing in Paris, Conroy ate breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York and dinner in Los Angeles again.

He flew the sabre, nicknamed the "California Boomerang," about 5,085 miles in 11 hours, 26 minutes and 33 seconds including the time for quick turnaround, refulling stops and lunch in New York. That averaged about 445 M.P.H.

Conroy's east-to-west flight in 5 hours 27 minutes 37 seconds shaved more than an hour off Paul Mantz' 1947 mark of 7:00:04. His west-east leg was slower than the mark of 3:46:33 set by air force Lt. Col. Robert D. Scott last March 10 in an F84F.

Fluoridation

Dear Sir:

Referring to fluoridation, isn't it a fact that 119 dentists of the Worcester, Mass. Dental Society have signed a petition against fluoridation.

Isn't it also a fact that a report from the Beech-Nut Company states that they are forced to remove fluorine from the artificially fluoridated water at their Rochester plant, where precooked baby foods are prepared, as a precaution against any hazard resulting from it, and until the safety of sodium fluoride in water has been completely established.

Isn't it a fact that the United States Department of Agriculture made some examinations as to what happened in brood sows and haven't they recommended to farmers the fluorine not be added to the water or food of brood sows because it did something to the pigs that were unborn? If it effects brood sows and unborn pigs, might it not also effect pregnant women and the unborn children?

A study recently made by four physicians from the University of Rochester on pregnant mothers of Newburgh found three times more fluorine in the tissues of unborn babies there, than in those of nearby unflouridated areas. What is the significance of this?

I have five children, ranging in age from two and a half to 12 years and they do not have a single cavity. I attribute this to proper diet.

Yours truly,
IRENE deOLDE.

The Sardine Cans

By FRANK TRIPP

This is the quarterly gripe column. Or are they becoming more frequent than quarterly? Could be, with all of the things there are to gripe about.

Our kids were driving to Florida. Guess everybody has borrowing kids, who get their eyes on things you own, remember them and where they are better than you do.

This time the find was a couple of long, flat traveling cases that came out of the trunk of one of the earliest Lincolns ever built.

Those days the car's trunk was an extension in the rear, sort of a mobile back porch. The trunk didn't occupy half the length of the chassis. The owner and his passengers were remembered as having legs. Builders planned on a place to put feet.

Today they don't even furnish shinguards. A rangy guy corkscrews inside like a St. Bernard into a wren's nest. Once in, he partly unfolds and tries for the nearest thing to comfort that the new motorized sardine cans afford.

BY ACTUAL measurement there is exactly 13 more inches of space provided for luggage in our new streamliner than there is of back seat leg room for human beings; and six more inches up front would come in right handy. I think it is stupid engineering.

The bird who designed it must have been raised on a horse-towed canal boat. He provided stable space at the rear end for all of the 200 horses that are under the hood.

It isn't a pre-shrunk Sanforized make either. It's one of the much touted leaders; supposed to be for folks who like comfort and are willing to pay for it.

Next time, I'm going to look over the line of hearses; maybe buy one, before the streamline boys try to transport corpses standing up.

ABOUT THE old cases that the kids dug out of the attic: they fitted into the rear end trunk of the roomy old Lincoln. You spread out a dozen or more suits and dresses flat and uncreased. After days of travel they came out smooth and sleek just like you parked them; unruffled, as if resting on a long closet shelf. You came out unruffled too.

We had few of the table top roads of today but we toured in comfort, in spite of obstacles that now would not be tolerated.

We had room to stretch and change positions; length and headroom, if less squat and sloping grace, they call it. I'd swap my share of the slinking grace for half of the stretch room in the old-timers—and have plenty of grace left.

SO THE KIDS borrowed the old Lincoln cases, wedged them in somehow and drove away happy as clams; erect as in church pews, positioned like statues, but happy because that is the only kind of touring they have ever known.

Behind them was their gracefully sloped storage compartment, with cubic space for the kitchen sink; room that they needed to unwind their legs before they were 50 miles out of town.

Won't somebody please build a car with at least one foot of that Grand Canyon moved inside, where the guy who pays the shot can get occasional use of it? Let the luggage ride in discomfort for a season or two.

Grace and comfort are not such all-fired incompatible virtues. Look at Kate Smith, or Jackie Gleason. They seem to have plenty of both.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Years ago the West Shore railroad used to have some interesting excursions and the public went big for it. For instance in the Kingston Argus, August 27, 1890 there is a news item telling about the West Shore running an excursion to Saratoga and back at $2.90, and to Lake George and return for $2.95. No doubt such excursions even today would bring out folks and organizations who wanted to be together. The train left Kingston at 8:10 a. m. arrived at Saratoga at 11:30 and left Saratoga at 6:30 p. m. It further explained that holders of the West Shore excursion tickets would be entitled to admission at half price to the Crystal Palace, "Pompeii" Saratoga Springs. It was also during the race season, so those who cared could see the races. Or they could take a delightful sail on Lake George from Caldwell to 14-Mile Island and return, as steamers connected with the special excursion train. Also dinner could be had on the steamer.

I do not know what it is but the appetite one gets while on a boat is amazing. Of course it was long ago, and I was much younger when we used to take boat excursions up and down the river. There was Mrs. Barney Mann, and her daughter, Hattie, Ruthie and Bobby Stone, and many other neighbors. We would plan for days what we would take along and hope that the weather was nice. The excitement of rushing down to the Point or to the dock on the Strand for the early boat was something. It is surprising how many folks one knows in a city like Kingston, for everyone just knew everyone on the boat.

Once we were settled we would start working around our lunch basket. First perhaps it would be fruit, then somebody would take out homemade cake we all had to try. Then someone had a sandwich mix that was new and so it went. As far as I remember, no matter what mixture I ate through the day I only felt tired the next day and just wanted to talk about my trip. We sometimes went to Albany and sometimes to New York which was a longer trip.

If we ever get summer this year, the beach will no doubt be popular again. It would be nice to take a boat trip again. On the Hudson, one never had to wait for a green light, nor line up on a hot day one car in back of another. One never had to sit in a car and not be able to get up.

On a Hudson River Dayline boat you steam along with plenty of room all around, for the boat and for the passengers. There used to be music and one could dance or watch dancing. You could visit with folks all over the boat. Coming in to New York with the skyline from the Hudson was something too. I do not think we make enough of our river and it is so near. I bet if there were some sort of boat accommodations on Sunday to and from Poughkeepsie say every hour in the afternoon folks would take advantage of it on nice Sunday afternoons in the summer. There must be a lot of youngsters that have never been on one of those Dayliners. I remember the carpets, the mirrors, the handsome furniture. You could sit inside or out and be comfortable. It was the poor man's yacht with the staff always so courteous.

Fluoridation

Dear Sir:

Referring to fluoridation, isn't it a fact that 119 dentists of the Worcester, Mass. Dental Society have signed a petition against fluoridation.

Isn't it also a fact that a report from the Beech-Nut Company states that they are forced to remove fluorine from the artificially fluoridated water at their Rochester plant, where precooked baby foods are prepared, as a precaution against any hazard resulting from it, and until the safety of sodium fluoride in water has been completely established.

Isn't it a fact that the United States Department of Agriculture made some examinations as to what happened in brood sows and haven't they recommended to farmers the fluorine not be added to the water or food of brood sows because it did something to the pigs that were unborn? If it effects brood sows and unborn pigs, might it not also effect pregnant women and the unborn children?

A study recently made by four physicians from the University of Rochester on pregnant mothers of Newburgh found three times more fluorine in the tissues of unborn babies there, than in those of nearby unflouridated areas. What is the significance of this?

I have five children, ranging in age from two and a half to 12 years and they do not have a single cavity. I attribute this to proper diet.

Yours truly,
IRENE deOLDE.

"What an imagination! Sweetie called a while ago and said she'd invited her kindergarten class home for lunch!"

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Years ago the West Shore railroad used to have some interesting excursions and the public went big for it. For instance in the Kingston Argus, August 27, 1890 there is a news item telling about the West Shore running an excursion to Saratoga and back at $2.90, and to Lake George and return for $2.95. No doubt such excursions even today would bring out folks and organizations who wanted to be together. The train left Kingston at 8:10 a. m. arrived at Saratoga at 11:30 and left Saratoga at 6:30 p. m. It further explained that holders of the West Shore excursion tickets would be entitled to admission at half price to the Crystal Palace, "Pompeii" Saratoga Springs. It was also during the race season, so those who cared could see the races. Or they could take a delightful sail on Lake George from Caldwell to 14-Mile Island and return, as steamers connected with the special excursion train. Also dinner could be had on the steamer.

I do not know what it is but the appetite one gets while on a boat is amazing. Of course it was long ago, and I was much younger when we used to take boat excursions up and down the river. There was Mrs. Barney Mann, and her daughter, Hattie, Ruthie and Bobby Stone, and many other neighbors. We would plan for days what we would take along and hope that the weather was nice. The excitement of rushing down to the Point or to the dock on the Strand for the early boat was something. It is surprising how many folks one knows in a city like Kingston, for everyone just knew everyone on the boat.

Once we were settled we would start working around our lunch basket. First perhaps it would be fruit, then somebody would take out homemade cake we all had to try. Then someone had a sandwich mix that was new and so it went. As far as I remember, no matter what mixture I ate through the day I only felt tired the next day and just wanted to talk about my trip. We sometimes went to Albany and sometimes to New York which was a longer trip.

If we ever get summer this year, the beach will no doubt be popular again. It would be nice to take a boat trip again. On the Hudson, one never had to wait for a green light, nor line up on a hot day one car in back of another. One never had to sit in a car and not be able to get up.

On a Hudson River Dayline boat you steam along with plenty of room all around, for the boat and for the passengers. There used to be music and one could dance or watch dancing. You could visit with folks all over the boat. Coming in to New York with the skyline from the Hudson was something too. I do not think we make enough of our river and it is so near. I bet if there were some sort of boat accommodations on Sunday to and from Poughkeepsie say every hour in the afternoon folks would take advantage of it on nice Sunday afternoons in the summer. There must be a lot of youngsters that have never been on one of those Dayliners. I remember the carpets, the mirrors, the handsome furniture. You could sit inside or out and be comfortable. It was the poor man's yacht with the staff always so courteous.

Krumville

Krumville, May 21—Communion service will be held in the new church Sunday evening, May 22, at 8 p. m. Everycne is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chambers of Poughkeepsie and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Every of Accord were visitors at the home of Mrs. Katie Davis on Sunday.

Plotholders of the Krumville Cemetery may now pay dues to the treasurer, Mrs. Katie Davis.

The Sardine Cans

By FRANK TRIPP

This is the quarterly gripe column. Or are they becoming more frequent than quarterly? Could be, with all of the things there are to gripe about.

Our kids were driving to Florida. Guess everybody has borrowing kids, who get their eyes on things you own, remember them and where they are better than you do.

This time the find was a couple of long, flat traveling cases that came out of the trunk of one of the earliest Lincolns ever built.

Those days the car's trunk was an extension in the rear, sort of a mobile back porch. The trunk didn't occupy half the length of the chassis. The owner and his passengers were remembered as having legs. Builders planned on a place to put feet.

Today they don't even furnish shinguards. A rangy guy corkscrews inside like a St. Bernard into a wren's nest. Once in, he partly unfolds and tries for the nearest thing to comfort that the new motorized sardine cans afford.

BY ACTUAL measurement there is exactly 13 more inches of space provided for luggage in our new streamliner than there is of back seat leg room for human beings; and six more inches up front would come in right handy. I think it is stupid engineering.

The bird who designed it must have been raised on a horse-towed canal boat. He provided stable space at the rear end for all of the 200 horses that are under the hood.

It isn't a pre-shrunk Sanforized make either. It's one of the much touted leaders; supposed to be for folks who like comfort and are willing to pay for it.

Next time, I'm going to look over the line of hearses; maybe buy one, before the streamline boys try to transport corpses standing up.

ABOUT THE old cases that the kids dug out of the attic: they fitted into the rear end trunk of the roomy old Lincoln. You spread out a dozen or more suits and dresses flat and uncreased. After days of travel they came out smooth and sleek just like you parked them; unruffled, as if resting on a long closet shelf. You came out unruffled too.

We had few of the table top roads of today but we toured in comfort, in spite of obstacles that now would not be tolerated.

We had room to stretch and change positions; length and headroom, if less squat and sloping grace, they call it. I'd swap my share of the slinking grace for half of the stretch room in the old-timers—and have plenty of grace left.

SO THE KIDS borrowed the old Lincoln cases, wedged them in somehow and drove away happy as clams; erect as in church pews, positioned like statues, but happy because that is the only kind of touring they have ever known.

Behind them was their gracefully sloped storage compartment, with cubic space for the kitchen sink; room that they needed to unwind their legs before they were 50 miles out of town.

Won't somebody please build a car with at least one foot of that Grand Canyon moved inside, where the guy who pays the shot can get occasional use of it? Let the luggage ride in discomfort for a season or two.

Grace and comfort are not such all-fired incompatible virtues. Look at Kate Smith, or Jackie Gleason. They seem to have plenty of both.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Blue-chip common stock prices are high.

The aggregate yield on an excellent list of eight—Aluminum, Amerada, Corning Glass, du-Pont, General Motors, Monsanto Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Westinghouse Electric is about 3 per cent.

These high prices reflect uncertain factors. Reluctance on the part of investors to take profits and to pay the capital gains taxes is one. Future purchasing power is another.

STEEL WORKERS are going to demand higher wages. Automobile manufacturers are facing guaranteed annual wage problems. These demands will tend to keep the dollar at a poor value.

In the face of these conditions, it is not hard to understand why the floating supply of good stocks (those for sale at a price) is getting smaller.

When excellent grade common stocks, all of which carry risk, are selling to yield a return comparable to that of the bonds of the United States Government, it is time for investors to examine their requirements carefully.

If a good list of common stocks such as is mentioned here were to sell to yield 4 per cent and not 3 per cent, one could expect to see a decline in stock prices in the future.

Maybe this will not happen. If public psychology doesn't change, it won't.

THE TAX considerations mentioned above, the tremendous amount of money in the country available for investment and the general belief that the dollar's purchasing power will not improve in the immediate future, prevent any drastic decline in high grade stock prices.

What investment policies, then, should people follow? Well, widows, orphans, and institutions of all kinds that can't afford to buy 3 per cent stock yields and growth should shun the blue chips at this time.

Whether or not such people and institutions should sell low-yielding, growth stocks at high prices should depend on the tax considerations and the necessity of higher present income.

But those investors who can afford to buy low-yields and growth can, in the light of current circumstances, buy a high grade list.

For instance, a young man of 33 has just inherited $25,000 from a favorite uncle. Suppose he were to retire at age 65. That date would take him into 1987.

A WELL-DIVERSIFIED list such as is mentioned above would, under present dividend declarations, pay him about $750 a year. This unexpected windfall is to be treated more as future security than as present improvement in living standards.

Consequently he can use the dividends to acquire additional shares of his favorite stocks. Any decline in prices will not worry him.

In fact, it is probable he will use the income from the list to buy the growth blue-chips that may sell off.

On the other hand, here is a religious organization that borrowed $25,000 at 4% five years ago to finance a building improvement. It is a tax exempt institution. The common stocks (of excellent grade) securing this bank loan are up 100-200% in price.

Yet the trustees hesitate to take profits and to pay off the loan. They think prices will go higher. And they may. But, as always, the time to take profits and to pay debts is when it is possible to do so.

First, open an account in a savings bank. Second, buy $5,000-$10,000 worth of life insurance. Third, purchase blue-chip common stocks outright. Always maintain good balance in the separate factors.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Blue-chip common stock prices are high.

The aggregate yield on an excellent list of eight—Aluminum, Amerada, Corning Glass, du-Pont, General Motors, Monsanto Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Westinghouse Electric is about 3 per cent.

These high prices reflect uncertain factors. Reluctance on the part of investors to take profits and to pay the capital gains taxes is one. Future purchasing power is another.

STEEL WORKERS are going to demand higher wages. Automobile manufacturers are facing guaranteed annual wage problems. These demands will tend to keep the dollar at a poor value.

In the face of these conditions, it is not hard to understand why the floating supply of good stocks (those for sale at a price) is getting smaller.

When excellent grade common stocks, all of which carry risk, are selling to yield a return comparable to that of the bonds of the United States Government, it is time for investors to examine their requirements carefully.

If a good list of common stocks such as is mentioned here were to sell to yield 4 per cent and not 3 per cent, one could expect to see a decline in stock prices in the future.

Maybe this will not happen. If public psychology doesn't change, it won't.

THE TAX considerations mentioned above, the tremendous amount of money in the country available for investment and the general belief that the dollar's purchasing power will not improve in the immediate future, prevent any drastic decline in high grade stock prices.

What investment policies, then, should people follow? Well, widows, orphans, and institutions of all kinds that can't afford to buy 3 per cent stock yields and growth should shun the blue chips at this time.

Whether or not such people and institutions should sell low-yielding, growth stocks at high prices should depend on the tax considerations and the necessity of higher present income.

But those investors who can afford to buy low-yields and growth can, in the light of current circumstances, buy a high grade list.

For instance, a young man of 33 has just inherited $25,000 from a favorite uncle. Suppose he were to retire at age 65. That date would take him into 1987.

A WELL-DIVERSIFIED list such as is mentioned above would, under present dividend declarations, pay him about $750 a year. This unexpected windfall is to be treated more as future security than as present improvement in living standards.

Consequently he can use the dividends to acquire additional shares of his favorite stocks. Any decline in prices will not worry him.

In fact, it is probable he will use the income from the list to buy the growth blue-chips that may sell off.

On the other hand, here is a religious organization that borrowed $25,000 at 4% five years ago to finance a building improvement. It is a tax exempt institution. The common stocks (of excellent grade) securing this bank loan are up 100-200% in price.

Yet the trustees hesitate to take profits and to pay off the loan. They think prices will go higher. And they may. But, as always, the time to take profits and to pay debts is when it is possible to do so.

First, open an account in a savings bank. Second, buy $5,000-$10,000 worth of life insurance. Third, purchase blue-chip common stocks outright. Always maintain good balance in the separate factors.

Giants Rout Indians In Esopus LL, 13 to 7

9-Runs in 4th Decide Contest

The Giants routed the championship Indians, 13 to 7, in the Esopus Legion Little League Saturday. Does that have a familiar ring?

A big nine-run rally after the Tribe had moved ahead, 7-4, in their half of the fourth blew the game apart. And all this on only six hits off John Potter and Jim Tinney.

SCHETTINO and Carter yielded only six hits for the Indians but a half dozen walks, a couple errors and hits by Ed Nembhard and Robert Crane set up the big explosion in the fourth.

Nembhard was the batting hero for the Giants with '3 for 3" all singles. Crane picked up two singletons. Schettino and Carter, the pitchers, each had two hits for the losers.

Dick Mayer Wins Kansas City Open

Kansas City, May 23 (AP) — Dick Mayer who was beginning to wonder whether he'd ever win another golf tournament had his confidence back today plus a $4,000 check for a 6-stroke victory in the Kansas City Open.

He breezed through the final round of the $20,000 meet yesterday for a 5-under-par 67, giving him a 72-hole total of 271.

Six strokes behind with 277's were young Billy Maxwell, the former National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., and Chandler Harper, the veteran pro from Chattanooga, Tenn. The 25-year-old Maxwell closed out with a 71 and Harper shot a final 72 over the 6,665 yard Hillcrest Country Club course.

It was Mayer's first major victory this year. He previously had won only $3,142 for 45 rounds of tournament play and ranked 28th among the pros in earnings.

SPORTS

Twaalfskill and Woodstock have busy three-day schedules planned and the artist village folks are hoping to combine the official season opening with the dedication of the new cocktail lounge.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle, the Twaalfskill golf chairman, expects a heavy entry for the two-day tournament May 28-29 and the Member-Guest on May 30. This is always an attractive type of competition.

• Success in Far Away Japan:

Pvt. Brian Smith, of the younger golf set, recently won the U. S. Army golf tournament medal at Camp Younghans, in Honshu, Japan, with a 36-hole total of 148. He fired rounds of 76 and 72 and then went on to win the camp title.

Smith, who was a member of the Kingston High School squad and the younger Wiltwyck group, earned a three-day pass to compete in northern Japan tournament. He was to be one of 16 qualifiers for the Army tournament in Japan.

Pvt. Smith has been in Japan since March and is a radio operator with the U. S. Army.

• Stars at Grossingers:

If you're interested in watching the finest 16 women golfers in the country, Grossinger's Country Club is the place. The dates are June 14-15-16-17-18.

The Association for the Help of Retarded Children in Sullivan county is presenting a Triangle Round Robin Golf tournament at the beautiful Grossinger links and this is a golf show worth the drive to Sullivan county.

Similar to the men's Palm Beach Round Robin, the women's tourney will pay $8,700 in prizes and the list of entries is a Who's Who of the female world of golf.

Heading the list is the immortal Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Patty Berg, Jackie Pung, the fabulous Honolulu housewife, Betty Hicks, Betsy Rawls, Louise Suggs, the Bauer sisters and a flock of others. This is highly recommended golf menu.

Raichle Posts Sub-Par 69 In Twaalfskill Tourney

The one-time boy wonder carded a 1-under-par 69 to lead another busy weekend. Dr. Douw Meyers posted a 72, Charles H. Gaffney 73, Louis G. Bruhn 74, Dick Overbagh 74, Alvin Boice 74, Gus Schrowang 77, Lou Smith 76, and George Schneider 77.

IRVING EYLES drew first place in the Saturday sweepstakes and Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick won the Sunday event.

The scores:

Irving Eyles 92-12-80; Eugene Freer 89-15-74; Robert Herzog 83-8-75; Walton Fitzgerald 92-18-74; Dick Wood 85-12-73; James A. Dwyer 80-8-72; Dr. Douw Meyers 81-5-76; Louis R. Netter 92-12-80; Bud Culloton 80-10-70; Frank Campochiaro 82-8-74; John D. Schoonmaker Jr. 90-15-75; Louis G. Bruhn 77-2-75.

Irving, Devine Share Laurels At Rhinebeck

Link Pettit held the lead for 24 laps in the first feature only to have Irving whizz past in the stretch.

Three re-starts were needed to get the second feature under way. Walt Reese and Link Pettit traded the early lead, with Devine taking over on the 10th lap, never to be headed.

Henry Page copped the Non-Ford feature.

Second heat—Pettit, L. Irving, C. Irving, Messina.

Third heat—Sleight, Williams, Hicks, Page.

Fourth heat—Daley, Morasso, Terganzi, Page.

New England Runner Captures Marathon

Yonkers, May 23 (AP)—Nick Costes of Natick, Mass., today held the National AAU marathon championship and his victory surprised no one.

The 28-year-old school teacher set a course record Sunday, crossing the finish line two miles in front of the pack in 2:31:12.4 for the 26-mile, 385-yard jaunt.

Costes finished third in the Boston Marathon last month and his clocking of 2:19.57 was the fastest ever by an American, so he automatically became the favorite for the AAU event.

Williams, Weary and Stiff, Plays in Exhibition Game

Boston, May 23 (AP)—Ted Williams, weary and stiff from lengthy conditioning drills, returns to the Boston Red Sox lineup against the New York Giants tonight in an exhibition game for the benefit of hospitalized war veterans.

The game will mark Williams' first competitive appearance since the end of last season when he reaffirmed his decision to retire from baseball with the statement: "I've had enough. This is the end of it."

THE UNPREDICTABLE star's "retirement" lasted only about 7½ months. On May 11, he changed his mind and two days later he flew into Boston, signed a 1955 contract for a reported $75,000 and began getting into playing shape.

Williams figures he needs a little more time to condition himself and plans to use tonight's exhibition as a measure to determine how well his training program is going. He has been bothered by the usual aches and pains, but is concerned chiefly with a hand blister which hampers his bat grip.

Spaulding Raps 145-Triplicate In Sweeps Event

It was the kind of triplicate Hod would rather forget and it says here, it's 100 to 1 he won't wear it when the ABC awards it.

IT WAS ALL of 435 based on three efforts of 145 and part of a 2775 gross series rolled by Jones Dairy No. 2. It was well out of the money.

Matter of fact, sponsor Ad Jones compiled the best series of 525 as the Dairymen hit an actual pinnage of 2484. But Spaulding's triplicate, well, that made it a match just a little out of the ordinary.

The results:

Jones Dairy No. 2 (2775)

Spaulding	145	145	145	435
Bob Jones	199	137	163	499
Amendola	193	181	129	503
Ad Jones	192	173	160	525
Williams	159	193	170	522

Berra's Batting Spree Sparks Yankees to Top

Here's a free tip to American League managers.

Junk that strategy that calls for putting Mickey Mantle on base to get at Yogi Berra. Although Yogi is batting only .286, his home run spurt has lifted the New York Yankees into the American League lead on a seven-game winning streak.

Happy days are here again at Yankee Stadium with the Mantle-Berra team flexing its muscles. Berra hit five home runs in four games against Baltimore over the weekend and four times Mantle was sitting on first base when Berra connected.

When Baltimore came to town, Berra was hitting only .252. He picked up 34 points, five homers and 11 runs batted in, thanks to that "soft touch" Baltimore pitching.

Berra hit three homers and drove in six runs in Sunday's doubleheader while the Yanks clouted Baltimore 5-0 and 7-5 to boost their lead over Cleveland to one full game, despite Early Wynn's one-hitter against Detroit for a 4-0 Tribe victory.

THIRD-PLACE Chicago split a pair with Kansas City, dropping the opener to Alex Kellner 7-2 but bouncing back for an even break with 15 hits and a 10-6 edge in the second game. The Boston at Washington game was rained out.

Don Mueller's hot bat helped the New York Giants run their winning streak to six straight with a sweep over Pittsburgh 5-2 and 5-3. The Pirates now have lost 11 in a row, only one short of the modern club record of 12, set in 1939.

Although Brooklyn clipped Philadelphia again 8-3, the Dodgers lost a half game of their National League lead, which now measures six games ahead of the Giants. Roy Campanella's 10th homer with a man on and Carl Erskine's two-run double were the big blows of a five-run spurt by the Dodgers in the sixth inning.

GENE CONLEY, the towering Milwaukee righthander, held Chicago to three hits and struck out eight while fashioning his sixth victory, 5-1. The loser was Sad Sam Jones, who pitched a no-hitter against Pittsburgh, May 12.

Luis Arroyo, little St. Louis pitcher, held Cincinnati to five hits as the Cardinals won the second game of a doubleheader, 5-2, and in the process snapped the Redlegs winning streak at six games. The Redlegs had to rally in the ninth to win the opener 4-3.

Berra's hitting wasn't the only comforting development for Manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks. Eddie Lopat, the veteran lefthander who had lost his first four starts, came through with a steady four-hit shutout, facing only 28 men, in the first game.

FRED HATFIELD'S single in the fourth inning was the only hit off Wynn at Detroit, where Cleveland ended its brief two-game losing streak. After the hit, Wynn retired 16 men in succession. The Tribe bopped Ned Garver and two others for 10 hits.

Enos Slaughter, on a hot streak since he was traded to Kansas City by the Yanks, followed up a three-hit Saturday with three hits in the first game and two more in the second while the A's split.

Mueller drove in all five Giant runs in the second game at Pittsburgh with a single and double to help Hoyt Wilhelm pick up a decision as the relief man for Johnny Antonelli and Al Corwin. The second game was called at the end of the eighth on account of rain. Ruben Gomez held the staggering Pirates to six hits in the opener, although he had some anxious moments in the eighth and ninth.

Erskine failed to last the route at Brooklyn when he appeared to be coasting home with an easy 8-1 decision. Homers by Del Ennis and Roy Smalley knocked him loose in the ninth, forcing Manager Walter Alston to call on Ed Roebuck to get the final outs. A first inning homer by Glen Gorbous, his first in the majors, was the only other run for the Phils.

BATTING — Yogi Berra, Yankees—Hit three home runs and drove in six runs in doubleheader sweep over Baltimore 5-0 and 7-5.

Week's Fistic Review

Saddler to Meet Lopes In Sacramento Tuesday

By MURRAY ROSE
AP Sports Writer

Virgil Akins, the veteran St. Louis welterweight who moved back into fistic prominence by knocking out formidable Ronnie Delaney, is a 13-10 favorite to beat New York's Jolting Joe Miceli for his fifth straight victory tonight.

The 25-year old Akins and 26-year old Miceli meet in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST). It was in the same arena May 2 that Akins knocked out Delaney, a ranking middleweight, in the fifth round with at left hook to end Delaney's seven-year unbeaten streak.

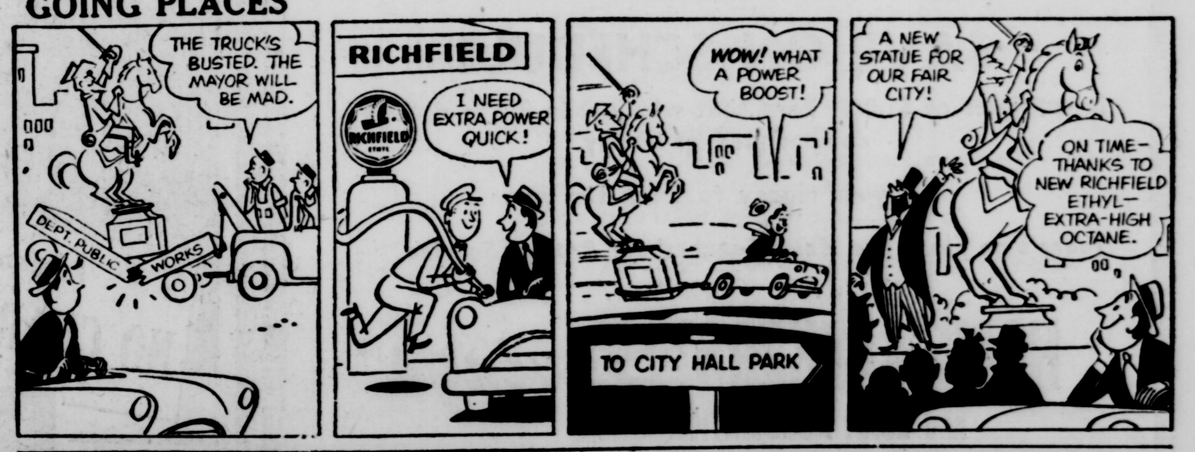

It also was Akins fourth consecutive win and his third kayo in succession. His record is 27-13-1. Miceli, another powerful lefthooker, whipped Luther Rawlings in his last start April 21. His record is 45-20-7.

FEATHERWEIGHT champion Sandy Saddler seeks his ninth straight triumph Tuesday night when he meets Joey Lopes, 10th ranking lightweight, in a non-title 10-rounder in Sacramento, Calif., Lopes' hometown. Sandy also will be after his 100th knockout. The reedy, 28-year old champion's record is 141-12-1. Lopes, 22, has a 27-7-2 record. The Sacramento speedster had a six-fight victory string snapped by Carmelo Costa on March 18. The scrap won't be telecast.

MIDDLEWEIGHT Holly Mins, the No. 4 160-pounder contender from Washington, and Young Charley Green of Los Angeles, collide in the Wednesday night television tilt (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST) in the St. Louis Arena. The bout marks Green's debut on national television. His record is 31-17-2. Mims' record is 39-12-5.

TWO YOUNG featherweight contenders from Brooklyn, 21-year-old Carmelo Costa and 22-year old Lulu Perez, have it out in a 10-rounder in New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night (NBC-TV and radio, 9 p. m., EST). Costa (25-2-4) is the sixth ranking 126-pound contender while Perez (32-5-1) is ranked seventh.

Giants Rout Indians In Esopus LL, 13 to 7

9-Runs in 4th Decide Contest

The Giants routed the championship Indians, 13 to 7, in the Esopus Legion Little League Saturday. Does that have a familiar ring?

A big nine-run rally after the Tribe had moved ahead, 7-4, in their half of the fourth blew the game apart. And all this on only six hits off John Potter and Jim Tinney.

SCHETTINO and Carter yielded only six hits for the Indians but a half dozen walks, a couple errors and hits by Ed Nembhard and Robert Crane set up the big explosion in the fourth.

Nembhard was the batting hero for the Giants with '3 for 3" all singles. Crane picked up two singletons. Schettino and Carter, the pitchers, each had two hits for the losers.

Dick Mayer Wins Kansas City Open

Kansas City, May 23 (AP) — Dick Mayer who was beginning to wonder whether he'd ever win another golf tournament had his confidence back today plus a $4,000 check for a 6-stroke victory in the Kansas City Open.

He breezed through the final round of the $20,000 meet yesterday for a 5-under-par 67, giving him a 72-hole total of 271.

Six strokes behind with 277's were young Billy Maxwell, the former National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., and Chandler Harper, the veteran pro from Chattanooga, Tenn. The 25-year-old Maxwell closed out with a 71 and Harper shot a final 72 over the 6,665 yard Hillcrest Country Club course.

It was Mayer's first major victory this year. He previously had won only $3,142 for 45 rounds of tournament play and ranked 28th among the pros in earnings.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

With the Memorial Day weekend coming up, the 1955 golf season is busting out all over.

Twaalfskill and Woodstock have busy three-day schedules planned and the artist village folks are hoping to combine the official season opening with the dedication of the new cocktail lounge.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle, the Twaalfskill golf chairman, expects a heavy entry for the two-day tournament May 28-29 and the Member-Guest on May 30. This is always an attractive type of competition.

• Success in Far Away Japan:

Pvt. Brian Smith, of the younger golf set, recently won the U. S. Army golf tournament medal at Camp Younghans, in Honshu, Japan, with a 36-hole total of 148. He fired rounds of 76 and 72 and then went on to win the camp title.

Smith, who was a member of the Kingston High School squad and the younger Wiltwyck group, earned a three-day pass to compete in northern Japan tournament. He was to be one of 16 qualifiers for the Army tournament in Japan.

Pvt. Smith has been in Japan since March and is a radio operator with the U. S. Army.

• Stars at Grossingers:

If you're interested in watching the finest 16 women golfers in the country, Grossinger's Country Club is the place. The dates are June 14-15-16-17-18.

The Association for the Help of Retarded Children in Sullivan county is presenting a Triangle Round Robin Golf tournament at the beautiful Grossinger links and this is a golf show worth the drive to Sullivan county.

Similar to the men's Palm Beach Round Robin, the women's tourney will pay $8,700 in prizes and the list of entries is a Who's Who of the female world of golf.

Heading the list is the immortal Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Patty Berg, Jackie Pung, the fabulous Honolulu housewife, Betty Hicks, Betsy Rawls, Louise Suggs, the Bauer sisters and a flock of others. This is highly recommended golf menu.

Raichle Posts Sub-Par 69 In Twaalfskill Tourney

The one-time boy wonder carded a 1-under-par 69 to lead another busy weekend. Dr. Douw Meyers posted a 72, Charles H. Gaffney 73, Louis G. Bruhn 74, Dick Overbagh 74, Alvin Boice 74, Gus Schrowang 77, Lou Smith 76, and George Schneider 77.

IRVING EYLES drew first place in the Saturday sweepstakes and Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick won the Sunday event.

(Saturday)

Irving Eyles 92-12-80; Eugene Freer 89-15-74; Robert Herzog 83-8-75; Walton Fitzgerald 92-18-74; Dick Wood 85-12-73; James A. Dwyer 80-8-72; Dr. Douw Meyers 81-5-76; Louis R. Netter 92-12-80; Bud Culloton 80-10-70; Frank Campochiaro 82-8-74; John D. Schoonmaker Jr. 90-15-75; Louis G. Bruhn 77-2-75.

Irving, Devine Share Laurels At Rhinebeck

Link Pettit held the lead for 24 laps in the first feature only to have Irving whizz past in the stretch.

Three re-starts were needed to get the second feature under way. Walt Reese and Link Pettit traded the early lead, with Devine taking over on the 10th lap, never to be headed.

Henry Page copped the Non-Ford feature.

Second heat—Pettit, L. Irving, C. Irving, Messina.

Third heat—Sleight, Williams, Hicks, Page.

Fourth heat—Daley, Morasso, Terganzi, Page.

New England Runner Captures Marathon

Yonkers, May 23 (AP)—Nick Costes of Natick, Mass., today held the National AAU marathon championship and his victory surprised no one.

The 28-year-old school teacher set a course record Sunday, crossing the finish line two miles in front of the pack in 2:31:12.4 for the 26-mile, 385-yard jaunt.

Costes finished third in the Boston Marathon last month and his clocking of 2:19.57 was the fastest ever by an American, so he automatically became the favorite for the AAU event.

Boston, May 23 (AP)—Ted Williams, weary and stiff from lengthy conditioning drills, returns to the Boston Red Sox lineup against the New York Giants tonight in an exhibition game for the benefit of hospitalized war veterans.

The game will mark Williams' first competitive appearance since the end of last season when he reaffirmed his decision to retire from baseball with the statement: "I've had enough. This is the end of it."

THE UNPREDICTABLE star's "retirement" lasted only about 7½ months. On May 11, he changed his mind and two days later he flew into Boston, signed a 1955 contract for a reported $75,000 and began getting into playing shape.

Williams figures he needs a little more time to condition himself and plans to use tonight's exhibition as a measure to determine how well his training program is going. He has been bothered by the usual aches and pains, but is concerned chiefly with a hand blister which hampers his bat grip.

Spaulding Raps 145-Triplicate In Sweeps Event

It was the kind of triplicate Hod would rather forget and it says here, it's 100 to 1 he won't wear it when the ABC awards it.

IT WAS ALL of 435 based on three efforts of 145 and part of a 2775 gross series rolled by Jones Dairy No. 2. It was well out of the money.

Matter of fact, sponsor Ad Jones compiled the best series of 525 as the Dairymen hit an actual pinnage of 2484. But Spaulding's triplicate, well, that made it a match just a little out of the ordinary.

The results:

Jones Dairy No. 2 (2775)

Spaulding	145	145	145	435
Bob Jones	199	137	163	499
Amendola	193	181	129	503
Ad Jones	192	173	160	525
Williams	159	193	170	522

Berra's Batting Spree Sparks Yankees to Top

Here's a free tip to American League managers.

Junk that strategy that calls for putting Mickey Mantle on base to get at Yogi Berra. Although Yogi is batting only .286, his home run spurt has lifted the New York Yankees into the American League lead on a seven-game winning streak.

Happy days are here again at Yankee Stadium with the Mantle-Berra team flexing its muscles. Berra hit five home runs in four games against Baltimore over the weekend and four times Mantle was sitting on first base when Berra connected.

When Baltimore came to town, Berra was hitting only .252. He picked up 34 points, five homers and 11 runs batted in, thanks to that "soft touch" Baltimore pitching.

Berra hit three homers and drove in six runs in Sunday's doubleheader while the Yanks clouted Baltimore 5-0 and 7-5 to boost their lead over Cleveland to one full game, despite Early Wynn's one-hitter against Detroit for a 4-0 Tribe victory.

THIRD-PLACE Chicago split a pair with Kansas City, dropping the opener to Alex Kellner 7-2 but bouncing back for an even break with 15 hits and a 10-6 edge in the second game. The Boston at Washington game was rained out.

Don Mueller's hot bat helped the New York Giants run their winning streak to six straight with a sweep over Pittsburgh 5-2 and 5-3. The Pirates now have lost 11 in a row, only one short of the modern club record of 12, set in 1939.

Although Brooklyn clipped Philadelphia again 8-3, the Dodgers lost a half game of their National League lead, which now measures six games ahead of the Giants. Roy Campanella's 10th homer with a man on and Carl Erskine's two-run double were the big blows of a five-run spurt by the Dodgers in the sixth inning.

GENE CONLEY, the towering Milwaukee righthander, held Chicago to three hits and struck out eight while fashioning his sixth victory, 5-1. The loser was Sad Sam Jones, who pitched a no-hitter against Pittsburgh, May 12.

Luis Arroyo, little St. Louis pitcher, held Cincinnati to five hits as the Cardinals won the second game of a doubleheader, 5-2, and in the process snapped the Redlegs winning streak at six games. The Redlegs had to rally in the ninth to win the opener 4-3.

Berra's hitting wasn't the only comforting development for Manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks. Eddie Lopat, the veteran lefthander who had lost his first four starts, came through with a steady four-hit shutout, facing only 28 men, in the first game.

FRED HATFIELD'S single in the fourth inning was the only hit off Wynn at Detroit, where Cleveland ended its brief two-game losing streak. After the hit, Wynn retired 16 men in succession. The Tribe bopped Ned Garver and two others for 10 hits.

Enos Slaughter, on a hot streak since he was traded to Kansas City by the Yanks, followed up a three-hit Saturday with three hits in the first game and two more in the second while the A's split.

Mueller drove in all five Giant runs in the second game at Pittsburgh with a single and double to help Hoyt Wilhelm pick up a decision as the relief man for Johnny Antonelli and Al Corwin. The second game was called at the end of the eighth on account of rain. Ruben Gomez held the staggering Pirates to six hits in the opener, although he had some anxious moments in the eighth and ninth.

Erskine failed to last the route at Brooklyn when he appeared to be coasting home with an easy 8-1 decision. Homers by Del Ennis and Roy Smalley knocked him loose in the ninth, forcing Manager Walter Alston to call on Ed Roebuck to get the final outs. A first inning homer by Glen Gorbous, his first in the majors, was the only other run for the Phils.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

BATTING — Yogi Berra, Yankees—Hit three home runs and drove in six runs in doubleheader sweep over Baltimore 5-0 and 7-5.

PITCHING—Early Wynn, Indians—Held Detroit to one hit, a fourth-inning single by Fred Hatfield, and retired last 16 batters in order for 4-0 victory.

It is said that the mullet is the only fish rich enough to fry in its own fat.

Week's Fistic Review

Saddler to Meet Lopes In Sacramento Tuesday

By MURRAY ROSE
AP Sports Writer

Virgil Akins, the veteran St. Louis welterweight who moved back into fistic prominence by knocking out formidable Ronnie Delaney, is a 13-10 favorite to beat New York's Jolting Joe Miceli for his fifth straight victory tonight.

The 25-year old Akins and 26-year old Miceli meet in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST). It was in the same arena May 2 that Akins knocked out Delaney, a ranking middleweight, in the fifth round with at left hook to end Delaney's seven-year unbeaten streak.

It also was Akins fourth consecutive win and his third kayo in succession. His record is 27-13-1. Miceli, another powerful lefthooker, whipped Luther Rawlings in his last start April 21. His record is 45-20-7.

FEATHERWEIGHT champion Sandy Saddler seeks his ninth straight triumph Tuesday night when he meets Joey Lopes, 10th ranking lightweight, in a non-title 10-rounder in Sacramento, Calif., Lopes' hometown. Sandy also will be after his 100th knockout. The reedy, 28-year old champion's record is 141-12-1. Lopes, 22, has a 27-7-2 record. The Sacramento speedster had a six-fight victory string snapped by Carmelo Costa on March 18. The scrap won't be telecast.

MIDDLEWEIGHT Holly Mims, the No. 4 160-pounder contender from Washington, and Young Charley Green of Los Angeles, collide in the Wednesday night television tilt (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST) in the St. Louis Arena. The bout marks Green's debut on national television. His record is 31-17-2. Mims' record is 39-12-5.

TWO YOUNG featherweight contenders from Brooklyn, 21-year-old Carmelo Costa and 22-year old Lulu Perez, have it out in a 10-rounder in New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night (NBC-TV and radio, 9 p. m., EST). Costa (25-2-4) is the sixth ranking 126-pound contender while Perez (32-5-1) is ranked seventh.

Checkered flag is symbol of victory they and 30 other drivers will be seeking. (AP Wirephoto).

Indianapolis Field at 33

Indianapolis, May 23 (AP)—The 39th 500-mile auto race May 30 will be a 33-car contest for about a quarter-mile.

Time trials which ended yesterday put the seasoned, hard-charging drivers up front—such contenders as 1953-54 winner Bill Vukovich, Jack McGrath, Tony Bettenhause, Fred Agabashian and Sam Hanks.

AT THE BACK end of the lineup will be seven drivers who qualified at slower speeds than the tail end car in last year's field.

McGrath set a 10-mile record of 142.580 miles an hour. Ten men in the front half of the lineup did over 140, a speed unheard of on the 2½-mile track before last year. But the rear end of the field was so much slower that the field's qualification average is about the same as last year—138.796 as against last year's 138.632.

Eight drivers will start for the first time, two more than last year.

TEAM NO. 12 fell one run short with a spectacular eight-run rally in the bottom of the seventh to lose 14-13 to Team No. 4.

Hulsair led the winners with a homer and three singles. Weber and Perry stroked three singles for Team No. 12. Charleton was the winning pitcher.

Simon went "5 for 5", including a grand slam homer as Team No. 7 overpowered Team No. 1, 17 to 8 behind Bradley. M. Joyce was tagged with the loss. J. Baloney hit a homer and two singles for the losers. L. Sellers homered for the winners.

L. DONALDSON singled across the winning run in the bottom of the seventh when Team No. 6 scored thrice to nip Team No. 8, 16 to 15, in a slugfest. S. Witkowski pounded a homer with one aboard for Team No. 6.

Bill Baumer yielded 15 hits but came up with the win, as he stroked three of the 16 safeties off Petri. Feass, Team No. 8 centerfielder, cracked four singles in five trips.

Indianapolis Field at 33

Indianapolis, May 23 (AP)—The 39th 500-mile auto race May 30 will be a 33-car contest for about a quarter-mile.

Time trials which ended yesterday put the seasoned, hard-charging drivers up front—such contenders as 1953-54 winner Bill Vukovich, Jack McGrath, Tony Bettenhause, Fred Agabashian and Sam Hanks.

AT THE BACK end of the lineup will be seven drivers who qualified at slower speeds than the tail end car in last year's field.

McGrath set a 10-mile record of 142.580 miles an hour. Ten men in the front half of the lineup did over 140, a speed unheard of on the 2½-mile track before last year. But the rear end of the field was so much slower that the field's qualification average is about the same as last year—138.796 as against last year's 138.632.

Eight drivers will start for the first time, two more than last year.

TWO AUTOMOBILES (above) were badly damaged but no one was reported seriously hurt in a head-on collision at the intersection of Route 9W and the Malden Turnpike a half-mile north of Saugerties about 9:20 p. m. Sunday, state police reported. Trooper Raymond Kowalski, who investigated, charged that Warren Patterson, 34, of Simmons street, Saugerties, drove through the stop sign on Malden turnpike and was in collision with the automobile of Fred Giordiano, 29, of Cementon. After Patterson was treated at the scene for abrasions of the head, he was issued summonses on charges of driving while his license was revoked and reckless driving, returnable before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers, state police reported. Trooper Kowalski said traffic was tied up about an hour and a half until the wreckage of the vehicles was removed. (Photo Workshop)

Dutchess Fire, Grange Heads Like Phone Law

The state law which requires persons to yield a party telephone line in an emergency "is a good law" and the public should comply with it, according to Dutchess county fire officials and the master of Dutchess county Pomona Grange.

Their comments came following conviction last week of Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 42-year-old Rhinebeck housewife, for refusing to yield a party telephone line in a fire emergency in the town of Clinton last January 2.

MRS. KAYES, who will be sentenced tomorrow by County Judge Schwartz in Poughkeepsie, faces a possible sentence of one year in jail, a fine of $500, or both, although the court may impose a minimum fine or suspend sentence. Mrs. Kayes was the first person in New York state to be arrested under the new law.

Lawrence Benson, Dover Plains, master of Dutchess County Pomona Grange, said it was "unfortunate that we have to have a law" to compel people to yield a telephone in an emergency. "Of course, if it is necessary to have a law to take care of such emergencies then it should be enforced."

Otto Friske, Dutchess county fire coordinator and Milan fire chief, said the new law should be a great help in fire or other emergencies. He said he thought it would be particularly useful in the rural areas.

Libyan King to Wed

Cairo, Egypt, May 23 (AP)—Libyan circles in Cairo say their king, 66-year-old Idriss I, will arrive in Egypt tomorrow to marry Alia Abdel Moneim Lamloun, 38-year-old daughter of a rich Egyptian landowner. Miss Moneim Lamloun, whose family is of Libyan origin, will be the second of the four wives his Moslem religion allows the King. His first wife of many years, fortyish Queen Fatima, has given him no sons. Under Moslem law only a male can succeed to the throne. Libyan sources said the King has never seen his bride-to-be but made arrangements for the marriage during a recent visit to Egypt.

Tensions Blamed

New York, May 23 (AP)—Numerous Columbia University students hurled torn paper and water from the windows of three dormitories yesterday as black-uniformed Knights Templar paraded along Amsterdam avenue. "It's a riot, it's a riot," chanted the students, many stripped to the waist, long after the parade passed the campus area. Proctor Walter R. Mohr and aides finally restored order in the halls. According to other students who jammed the streets watching, tensions of the final examination week were responsible for the outburst.

Low Bidder

and the other by Newton F. Ronan, of the Albany district office of the state public works department.

John W. Johnson, state public works superintendent, also recently announced receiving a low bid of $62,805.44 from Elastic Stop Nut Corp. of America, Elizabeth, N. J., for furnishing and erecting 81 directional traffic signs at points in 17 counties along the thruway.

Several will be erected in Ulster county and at points along the route between Buffalo and Suffern. This work is scheduled for completion by Aug. 15.

Scientists Are

like the others had not released any.

Dr. William H. Sebrell, Jr., director of the National Institutes, presided over the meeting. Scheele was at the capitol for a session with lawmakers on vaccine problems.

PUBLIC HEALTH Service scientific consultants at the meeting were Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Joseph Smadel, Walter Reed Army Medical Center; Dr. William Hammon, University of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Thomas Francis, University of Michigan.

A halt in the program was recommended 15 days ago. Since that time, the U. S. Public Health Service has cleared the vaccine previously distributed by two makers, but much of that has been used.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, meanwhile, arranged to meet in closed session to consider various proposals for federal controls over manufacture and distribution of the vaccine.

THE EISENHOWER administration has said there is no need for such controls, but Democratic leaders forecast the committee would approve a bill providing authority for President Eisenhower to control supplies of the vaccine if he should decide circumstances warranted it.

Chairman Hill (D-Ala) said over the weekend he hoped the committee could complete work in a few days on a bill under which the President could "absolutely control the distribution" of the vaccine in the event black markets or any other unforeseen factor should develop.

SECRETARY of Welfare Hobby has testified the administration does not want such powers, but several of her aides said they could see no damage from a grant of standby authority for use if Eisenhower saw fit.

Without singling out any one of several bills before the committee, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said in an interview Saturday:

"I think it would be desirable to vest in the President power to exert control over this program and he could decide whether he needs to do it."

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) of the House Commerce Committee announced plans to start hearings Wednesday on Eisenhower's request for 28 million dollars to assure vaccine shots for children whose families could not afford to pay for them.

IN CHICAGO, a hope "that every child can get the vaccine" was voiced by Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Providence, R. I., outgoing president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA).

In Chicago for the PTA's annual convention, Mrs. Leonard told newsmen the organization has "every confidence" in the vaccine program "although it might have been put in operation a bit hastily." She said the PTA had helped out in field tests of the vaccine last year and that its confidence has "never faltered."

DR. SCHEELE invited to today's meeting health service consultants, scientists from the national institutes of health and representatives of six pharmaceutical firms licensed to produce the vaccine.

Scheele said the session was called to go over the findings turned up by health service inspectors during a plant-by-plant study of testing and manufacturing processes. A health service spokesman said Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the vaccine's developer who has sat in on previous discussions, had sent word he could not attend today.

THERE WAS added urgency in the situation because of the imminent closing of schools for the summer. If second shots of the vaccine are not given to first and second grade children by then in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' free program, presumably clinics will have to be set up.

The two-week-old embargo on fresh vaccine supplies has made it uncertain that it will be possible to carry out the original plan to inoculate all children aged 1 through 9 before August, when the polio season reaches its height.

There was no new report from the government yesterday on the number of post-injection polio cases.

SATURDAY'S report put the confirmed total at 79, of which 5 were fatal, out of nearly 6 million children vaccinated. By comparison, the tentative total of cases of polio among all age groups stands at 682 since April 10, about the time the vaccine was licensed for distribution.

Rep. Scott (R.-Pa.) declared, meanwhile, that a "publicity stunt" caused the vaccine to be released two months sooner than seemed justified by the extent of supplies.

Scott, appearing in a TV-radio debate (NBC—The American Forum), did not identify the person he was talking about. But he said an "advertising man" decided the "birthday of the late President Roosevelt was a fine day to announce the Salk vaccine" because of Roosevelt's efforts in the antipolio campaign.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that Salk's development was safe and effective came on the anniversary of Roosevelt's death, April 12, to which Scott clearly referred.

Scott said this jumping the gun "caused one heck of a mess ever since for everybody," although he insisted Secretary Hobby is doing a good job.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. said recently the report of the vaccine's success was made on the anniversary of Roosevelt's death by "pure coincidence." Francis headed the staff that compiled the report.

He said it first was scheduled for release April 1 but could not be completed by that time.

Accord Church Wins Mention In Church Awards

A small country church in an upstate community of 175 has been named New York state's "Rural Church of the Year" for its determined efforts to bring cooperation and service out of a 157-year history of dissension and division.

The First Baptist Church of Burlington Falls walked off with the first place award and $300 in cash, given by the Town and Country Church Development program of the Middle Atlantic area in cooperation with the New York State Council of Churches.

An honorable mention award in the church development program was made to the Accord Methodist Church, the Rev. George I. Goodwin, pastor.

As first place winner, the Burlington Falls church will go on to compete for an additional $300 award and designation as the Rural Church of the Middle Atlantic area. Seeking the title will be winning churches in New York state, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Before entering the Church Development program, the Burlington Falls church had experienced a long series of difficulties, dating from the first storm-tossed year of founding in 1797.

Heart Gives Out While Man's Being Rescued

Swampscott, Mass., May 23 (AP)—Jacob Nottonson, 70, of 242 East 56th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., died of a heart attack yesterday while a friend was trying to save him from drowning.

Harry Weinstein, 65, of Lynn, owner of the boat and Nottonson's host on the Sunday afternoon cruise off Galloupe's Point, grabbed the elderly man and tried to haul him aboard.

She called police and the Coast Guard. A Coast Guard amphibious vehicle brought Nottonson ashore.

Medical Examiner Joseph A. Di Clerico listed the cause of death as a heart attack.

Dozen Are Injured

Gardiner Mishap Injures Four

Four young persons were treated for injuries after the automobile in which they were riding ran into a ditch and turned over on Route 299 at Gardiner about 10:20 p. m. Sunday, state police reported.

Injured were Herbert Heubach, 21, owner of the vehicle; Isabella Watt, 22, and Cornelius Watt, 22, all of Gardiner, and George Agor, 25, of RD 2, New Paltz, according to the report. All were treated for various cuts and abrasions, troopers said.

Cornelius Watt, listed as driver of the automobile, told troopers the accident occurred when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle.

Asleep at Wheel

Greenwich, Conn., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Milfred A. Steehr, 47, of Lyndhurst, N. J., was seriously injured early today when state police said she fell asleep at the wheel of her car. The car crossed the esplanade of the Merritt Parkway and bumped down a gully into a clump of trees. She was hospitalized in fair condition. Her husband, John, 50, was less seriously injured.

Beacon City Hall Sites Down to 5

The field of potential city hall sites for the city of Beacon has now been reduced to five, according to Commissioner of Public Safety Roberts as reported Saturday.

"Our biggest problem now is to get everyone settled on one site," Roberts was quoted as saying. He said he didn't expect any considerable delay in reaching agreement.

Once the City Council selects a site the city will enter negotiations to purchase the property.

TWO AUTOMOBILES (above) were badly damaged but no one was reported seriously hurt in a head-on collision at the intersection of Route 9W and the Malden Turnpike a half-mile north of Saugerties about 9:20 p. m. Sunday, state police reported. Trooper Raymond Kowalski, who investigated, charged that Warren Patterson, 34, of Simmons street, Saugerties, drove through the stop sign on Malden turnpike and was in collision with the automobile of Fred Giordiano, 29, of Cementon. After Patterson was treated at the scene for abrasions of the head, he was issued summonses on charges of driving while his license was revoked and reckless driving, returnable before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers, state police reported. Trooper Kowalski said traffic was tied up about an hour and a half until the wreckage of the vehicles was removed. (Photo Workshop)

Dutchess Fire, Grange Heads Like Phone Law

The state law which requires persons to yield a party telephone line in an emergency "is a good law" and the public should comply with it, according to Dutchess county fire officials and the master of Dutchess county Pomona Grange.

Their comments came following conviction last week of Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 42-year-old Rhinebeck housewife, for refusing to yield a party telephone line in a fire emergency in the town of Clinton last January 2.

MRS. KAYES, who will be sentenced tomorrow by County Judge Schwartz in Poughkeepsie, faces a possible sentence of one year in jail, a fine of $500, or both, although the court may impose a minimum fine or suspend sentence. Mrs. Kayes was the first person in New York state to be arrested under the new law.

Lawrence Benson, Dover Plains, master of Dutchess County Pomona Grange, said it was "unfortunate that we have to have a law" to compel people to yield a telephone in an emergency. "Of course, if it is necessary to have a law to take care of such emergencies then it should be enforced."

Otto Friske, Dutchess county fire coordinator and Milan fire chief, said the new law should be a great help in fire or other emergencies. He said he thought it would be particularly useful in the rural areas.

Libyan King to Wed

Cairo, Egypt, May 23 (AP)—Libyan circles in Cairo say their king, 66-year-old Idriss I, will arrive in Egypt tomorrow to marry Alia Abdel Moneim Lamloun, 38-year-old daughter of a rich Egyptian landowner. Miss Moneim Lamloun, whose family is of Libyan origin, will be the second of the four wives his Moslem religion allows the King. His first wife of many years, fortyish Queen Fatima, has given him no sons. Under Moslem law only a male can succeed to the throne. Libyan sources said the King has never seen his bride-to-be but made arrangements for the marriage during a recent visit to Egypt.

Tensions Blamed

New York, May 23 (AP)—Numerous Columbia University students hurled torn paper and water from the windows of three dormitories yesterday as black-uniformed Knights Templar paraded along Amsterdam avenue. "It's a riot, it's a riot," chanted the students, many stripped to the waist, long after the parade passed the campus area. Proctor Walter R. Mohr and aides finally restored order in the halls. According to other students who jammed the streets watching, tensions of the final examination week were responsible for the outburst.

Low Bidder

and the other by Newton F. Ronan, of the Albany district office of the state public works department.

John W. Johnson, state public works superintendent, also recently announced receiving a low bid of $62,805.44 from Elastic Stop Nut Corp. of America, Elizabeth, N. J., for furnishing and erecting 81 directional traffic signs at points in 17 counties along the thruway.

Several will be erected in Ulster county and at points along the route between Buffalo and Suffern. This work is scheduled for completion by Aug. 15.

Scientists Are

like the others had not released any.

Dr. William H. Sebrell, Jr., director of the National Institutes, presided over the meeting. Scheele was at the capitol for a session with lawmakers on vaccine problems.

PUBLIC HEALTH Service scientific consultants at the meeting were Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Joseph Smadel, Walter Reed Army Medical Center; Dr. William Hammon, University of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Thomas Francis, University of Michigan.

A halt in the program was recommended 15 days ago. Since that time, the U. S. Public Health Service has cleared the vaccine previously distributed by two makers, but much of that has been used.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, meanwhile, arranged to meet in closed session to consider various proposals for federal controls over manufacture and distribution of the vaccine.

THE EISENHOWER administration has said there is no need for such controls, but Democratic leaders forecast the committee would approve a bill providing authority for President Eisenhower to control supplies of the vaccine if he should decide circumstances warranted it.

Chairman Hill (D-Ala) said over the weekend he hoped the committee could complete work in a few days on a bill under which the President could "absolutely control the distribution" of the vaccine in the event black markets or any other unforeseen factor should develop.

SECRETARY of Welfare Hobby has testified the administration does not want such powers, but several of her aides said they could see no damage from a grant of standby authority for use if Eisenhower saw fit.

Without singling out any one of several bills before the committee, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) said in an interview Saturday:

"I think it would be desirable to vest in the President power to exert control over this program and he could decide whether he needs to do it."

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) of the House Commerce Committee announced plans to start hearings Wednesday on Eisenhower's request for 28 million dollars to assure vaccine shots for children whose families could not afford to pay for them.

IN CHICAGO, a hope "that every child can get the vaccine" was voiced by Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Providence, R. I., outgoing president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA).

In Chicago for the PTA's annual convention, Mrs. Leonard told newsmen the organization has "every confidence" in the vaccine program "although it might have been put in operation a bit hastily." She said the PTA had helped out in field tests of the vaccine last year and that its confidence has "never faltered."

DR. SCHEELE invited to today's meeting health service consultants, scientists from the national institutes of health and representatives of six pharmaceutical firms licensed to produce the vaccine.

Scheele said the session was called to go over the findings turned up by health service inspectors during a plant-by-plant study of testing and manufacturing processes. A health service spokesman said Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the vaccine's developer who has sat in on previous discussions, had sent word he could not attend today.

THERE WAS added urgency in the situation because of the imminent closing of schools for the summer. If second shots of the vaccine are not given to first and second grade children by then in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' free program, presumably clinics will have to be set up.

The two-week-old embargo on fresh vaccine supplies has made it uncertain that it will be possible to carry out the original plan to inoculate all children aged 1 through 9 before August, when the polio season reaches its height.

There was no new report from the government yesterday on the number of post-injection polio cases.

SATURDAY'S report put the confirmed total at 79, of which 5 were fatal, out of nearly 6 million children vaccinated. By comparison, the tentative total of cases of polio among all age groups stands at 682 since April 10, about the time the vaccine was licensed for distribution.

Rep. Scott (R.-Pa.) declared, meanwhile, that a "publicity stunt" caused the vaccine to be released two months sooner than seemed justified by the extent of supplies.

Scott, appearing in a TV-radio debate (NBC—The American Forum), did not identify the person he was talking about. But he said an "advertising man" decided the "birthday of the late President Roosevelt was a fine day to announce the Salk vaccine" because of Roosevelt's efforts in the antipolio campaign.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that Salk's development was safe and effective came on the anniversary of Roosevelt's death, April 12, to which Scott clearly referred.

Scott said this jumping the gun "caused one heck of a mess ever since for everybody," although he insisted Secretary Hobby is doing a good job.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. said recently the report of the vaccine's success was made on the anniversary of Roosevelt's death by "pure coincidence." Francis headed the staff that compiled the report.

He said it first was scheduled for release April 1 but could not be completed by that time.

Accord Church Wins Mention In Church Awards

A small country church in an upstate community of 175 has been named New York state's "Rural Church of the Year" for its determined efforts to bring cooperation and service out of a 157-year history of dissension and division.

The First Baptist Church of Burlington Falls walked off with the first place award and $300 in cash, given by the Town and Country Church Development program of the Middle Atlantic area in cooperation with the New York State Council of Churches.

An honorable mention award in the church development program was made to the Accord Methodist Church, the Rev. George I. Goodwin, pastor.

As first place winner, the Burlington Falls church will go on to compete for an additional $300 award and designation as the Rural Church of the Middle Atlantic area. Seeking the title will be winning churches in New York state, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Before entering the Church Development program, the Burlington Falls church had experienced a long series of difficulties, dating from the first storm-tossed year of founding in 1797.

Heart Gives Out While Man's Being Rescued

Swampscott, Mass., May 23 (AP)—Jacob Nottonson, 70, of 242 East 56th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., died of a heart attack yesterday while a friend was trying to save him from drowning.

Harry Weinstein, 65, of Lynn, owner of the boat and Nottonson's host on the Sunday afternoon cruise off Galloupe's Point, grabbed the elderly man and tried to haul him aboard.

When his efforts proved futile, he cried for help and attracted the attention of a woman on shore.

She called police and the Coast Guard. A Coast Guard amphibious vehicle brought Nottonson ashore.

Medical Examiner Joseph A. Di Clerico listed the cause of death as a heart attack.

Four young persons were treated for injuries after the automobile in which they were riding ran into a ditch and turned over on Route 299 at Gardiner about 10:20 p. m. Sunday, state police reported.

Injured were Herbert Heubach, 21, owner of the vehicle; Isabella Watt, 22, and Cornelius Watt, 22, all of Gardiner, and George Agor, 25, of RD 2, New Paltz, according to the report. All were treated for various cuts and abrasions, troopers said.

Cornelius Watt, listed as driver of the automobile, told troopers the accident occurred when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching vehicle.

Asleep at Wheel

Greenwich, Conn., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Milfred A. Steehr, 47, of Lyndhurst, N. J., was seriously injured early today when state police said she fell asleep at the wheel of her car. The car crossed the esplanade of the Merritt Parkway and bumped down a gully into a clump of trees. She was hospitalized in fair condition. Her husband, John, 50, was less seriously injured.

Beacon City Hall Sites Down to 5

The field of potential city hall sites for the city of Beacon has now been reduced to five, according to Commissioner of Public Safety Roberts as reported Saturday.

"Our biggest problem now is to get everyone settled on one site," Roberts was quoted as saying. He said he didn't expect any considerable delay in reaching agreement.

Once the City Council selects a site the city will enter negotiations to purchase the property.

Johnson Claims Spending Is All For Boulevards

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D.-Tex.) said today President Eisenhower's highway program proposes "bonds for boulevards" and "leaves out farm-to-market roads."

The Democratic leader referred in an interview to the administration's plan for a 21-billion-dollar bond issue to finance construction of a 40,000-mile interstate highway network in the next 10 years.

"Like a great many other proposals they make," he said, "the Republicans seem to think that the bulk of the money ought to go to one type of roads, the boulevards. We think it ought to be spread among many types."

Johnson predicted the Senate, on a test vote, would reject the Eisenhower plan as "a bad bill" and adopt instead a Democratic plan prepared by Sen. Gore (D.-Tenn.).

Gore said the administration plan would freeze expenditures on farm-to-market roads at 100 million dollars less than the present yearly rate.

Loses Control of Car

New York, May 23 (AP)—Charles Hobby, 32, of Tappan, N. Y., was injured early today when he lost control of his automobile and ran into a sign on the Henry Hudson Parkway near the 96th street exit. Hobby, who police said was alone and driving north on the parkway when the accident occurred, was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital suffering from multiple rib fractures. His condition was reported fair.

Why We Say--

In the time of the Greek philosopher Plato, it was thought that the swan, unable to sing like other birds, would burst into one last song before it died—thus a last performance of anything became known as a "swan song."

Nationals Ridicule Efforts on Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, May 23 (AP)—Nationalist Chinese quarters today ridiculed efforts of V. K. Krishna Menon toward achieving a peaceful settlement in the Formosa area.

Menon, chief adviser on foreign affairs to the Indian premier, Jawaharlal Nehru, is returning to New Delhi after an 11-day visit to Peiping.

A qualified source who did not want to be identified said: "By now, even Krishna Menon must have realized that the Chinese Communists want nothing less than to have Formosa and kick the Americans out of the western Pacific."

Burglar Ransacks Doctor's Home

New York, May 25 (AP) — Shouts of a woman physician whose apartment was looted led to the arrest of an alleged burglar last night.

Police said the prisoner, Leroy Bell, 21, admitted he is a narcotics addict. He was charged with robbery, burglary and felonious assault.

The doctors' purse, which contained $40 in cash and $300 in travelers checks, was recovered.

KEEP IT FROM SEEPING INTO YOUR CELLAR

Orangeburg is America's preferred pipe for conductor lines from downspouts to keep roof water from running down into the cellar—or as a sewer line from the house to street main or septic tank—for storm drains—all outside non-pressure uses. Orangeburg's tough non-metallic material lasts for years underground. The easy-to-handle 8-foot lengths save time and money. A tap or two seals the Taperweld Joints. No cement or joining compound is required.

Gore said the administration plan would freeze expenditures on farm-to-market roads at 100 million dollars less than the present yearly rate.

Loses Control of Car

New York, May 23 (AP)—Charles Hobby, 32, of Tappan, N. Y., was injured early today when he lost control of his automobile and ran into a sign on the Henry Hudson Parkway near the 96th street exit. Hobby, who police said was alone and driving north on the parkway when the accident occurred, was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital suffering from multiple rib fractures. His condition was reported fair.

Why We Say--

In the time of the Greek philosopher Plato, it was thought that the swan, unable to sing like other birds, would burst into one last song before it died—thus a last performance of anything became known as a "swan song."

Nationals Ridicule Efforts on Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, May 23 (AP)—Nationalist Chinese quarters today ridiculed efforts of V. K. Krishna Menon toward achieving a peaceful settlement in the Formosa area.

Menon, chief adviser on foreign affairs to the Indian premier, Jawaharlal Nehru, is returning to New Delhi after an 11-day visit to Peiping.

A qualified source who did not want to be identified said: "By now, even Krishna Menon must have realized that the Chinese Communists want nothing less than to have Formosa and kick the Americans out of the western Pacific."

Burglar Ransacks Doctor's Home

New York, May 25 (AP) — Shouts of a woman physician whose apartment was looted led to the arrest of an alleged burglar last night.

Police said the prisoner, Leroy Bell, 21, admitted he is a narcotics addict. He was charged with robbery, burglary and felonious assault.

When Dr. Regan screamed, Bell dropped a suitcase full of silver and other household items, threatened the doctor's life and hit her in the face.

As she continued to scream for help, Bell grabbed her purse and ran. Patrolman Robert Pere, hearing her cries, chased Bell. The policeman commandeered an auto, fired three shots and captured Bell six blocks away.

The doctors' purse, which contained $40 in cash and $300 in travelers checks, was recovered.

KEEP IT FROM SEEPING INTO YOUR CELLAR

Orangeburg is America's preferred pipe for conductor lines from downspouts to keep roof water from running down into the cellar—or as a sewer line from the house to street main or septic tank—for storm drains—all outside non-pressure uses. Orangeburg's tough non-metallic material lasts for years underground. The easy-to-handle 8-foot lengths save time and money. A tap or two seals the Taperweld Joints. No cement or joining compound is required.
